STAFF NOTES

During the year a number of staff changes have occurred. Mr White, a foundation staff member, was appointed tutor in physics at the Auckland Technical Institute and Mr Davies transferred from Penrose High School to take over as Head of the Physics Department.

Mrs Mariu left at the end of the first term, and recently had a daughter. Miss Beauchamp replaced her to look after girls' physical education.

At the end of the second term, Miss Spence left to take up a Fulbright Scholarship in the United States, and her exchange teacher, Mr Thurm, has been hard at work assimilating New Zealand customs.

Two other staff members have been on leave during the year: Mrs McKay on extended sick leave, gathering strength before she faces us again, and Miss Blyth who went on an overseas trip in which, strangely enough, Scotland figured prominently.

A number of timetable gaps were created by these changes, and we are grateful to Mrs Jones, Mr Penman and Mr Moran for filling in on a relieving basis.

We regret that we are losing some staff at the end of the term. Mrs Stratford, a foundation staff member, is going to Remuera Intermediate School and we shall miss her ready participation in so many aspects of school life. Mr Warren, who will be missed in many fields of school activity, leaves to take up a position at Taupo, and we wish him well.

Our best wishes go to two women members of the staff—Miss Davis, who is to be married early next year and hopes to leave for England before the end of 1966; and Miss Longley, who is to be married during the holidays. Both she and her husband expect to take up teaching appointments in Hamilton.

For the remainder of the staff 1965 appears to be unmarked by events of major importance — with two exceptions. We congratulate Mr and Mrs Bendall and Mr and Mrs Hathaway on the arrival of Andrew and Glen respectively; and we note with pleasure that a certain scientifically minded gentleman has given up his nomadic existence and settled in as a permanent resident.

Rutherford Memorial Day

The programme for Rutherford Day followed that established by the two previous occasions; the welcome by Mr Clark, items by the school, and the address. In the welcome, Mr Clark again gave thanks to those who had assisted the school, making particular reference to the Board of Governors and the members of the Education Department.

Sir Walter Nash was the guest speaker this year and the school was indeed fortunate to hear him — Parliament having sat into the very early morning. He spoke with remarkable enthusiasm and patent sincerity of Social Progress. He started by referring to a remit passed at a Socialist Convention at Geneva in 1921:

"The old, the young, the ailing, and all involved in vital utilities have first share in the wealth produced."

The old, because they laid the foundation of the present wealth; the young, because they are the future; the ailing, because they have the right to be made well; and those involved in vital utilities, because society cannot do without them. That aim has been very nearly realised in New Zealand, but we live in a world where, for most people, even the basic rights of sufficient food and an adequate education are not fulfilled. This is a judgement on us, who give only a third of one hundredth part of our national income to help these people, well off though we are.

As a practising Christian, Sir Walter based most of his address on the God-given rights of the individual; restating the original emphasis of the Labour Party that gave rise to what many regard as its best legislation. In conclusion, he said that the rights which we have, simply because we are born, imply obligations. We must make full use of our faculties to add our share to the sum of human welfare and achievement. For this we require character and integrity.

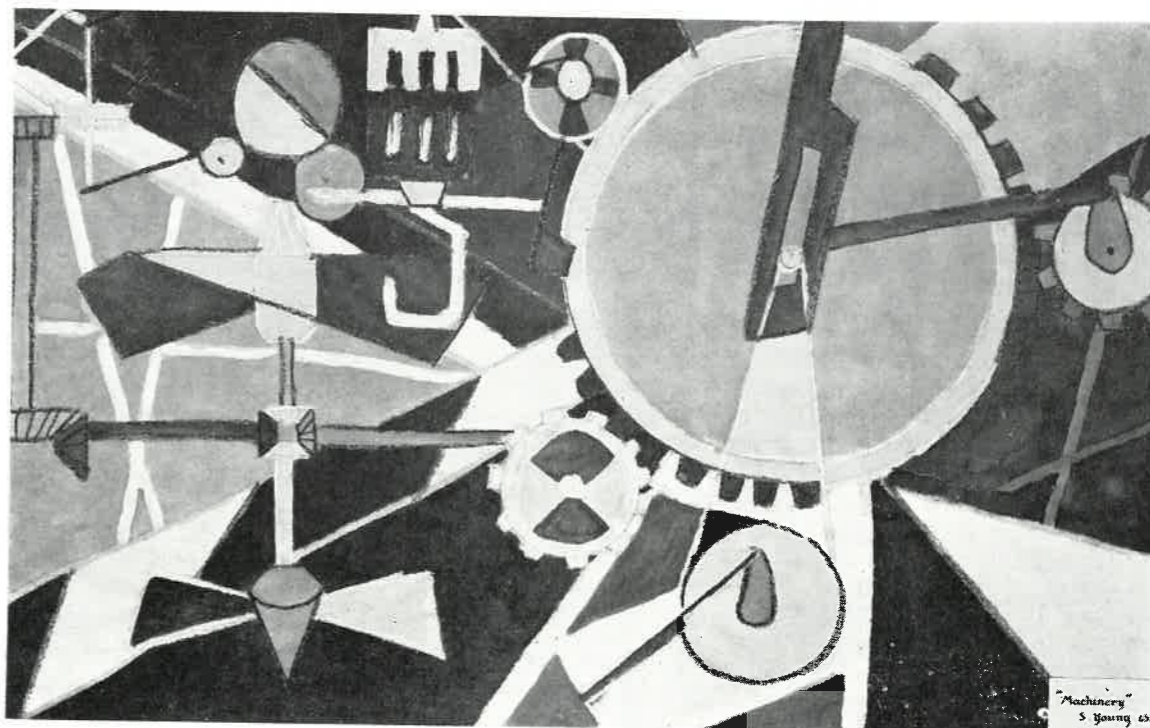

At the close of the ceremony the guests and staff repaired to the homecraft room, where they enjoyed a very pleasant lunch prepared by Mrs Stratford and the Homecraft pupils.

GIFTS TO THE SCHOOL

We should like to thank all those people who have helped the school in numerous ways during the last year. In particular we express our appreciation to the following people who made gifts to the school.

Mr J. W. Manifold, English prize for Sixth forms; Mr O. Jones, Set of 1st XI Soccer jerseys; Mr G. H. York, Cricket Bat; The Waitemata Rowing Club, Rowing Shell; Te Atatu Male Voice Choir, Music Scholarship awarded to Christine Cottle — £7.7.0; Neven Barbour — £3.3.0; Donald Moorhead — £1.1.0.

Donations to the Library as recorded in Library notes.

SCHOOL SWIMMING POOL

Following the success of the 1964 campaign of fund raising for Rutherford High School swimming pool, the Board of Governors has asked a local engineer to carry out an investigation into site possibilities.

The original site south west of the bus loading bay has been found unsuitable owing to unstable foundation material at depth. However, an alternative site near the toe of the northern batter, directly in line with the P.E. sealed area, is suitable.

Accordingly, the engineer is at present preparing sketch plans and an estimate of total costs in two stages.

Stage 1:

The pool and filter plant, using the existing P.E. changing sheds, to be in readiness for the 1966-67 summer season. School pupils only.

Stage 2:

Dressing rooms and surrounding landscaping and seating, with public use of the baths from this stage onwards.

The Board has £6000 in hand, invested to earn interest until capital expenditure is needed. To this can be added a Government subsidy of £2000, and, it is hoped, financial help from the Waitemata County Council, to whom an appeal has already been made. The Council has this under consideration, so that a specific amount might yet be named within this financial year.

Where an amount of £10,000 is to be spent, it will be appreciated that thorough preliminary planning is necessary before launching the project.

This is a year, then, of conservative activity, well invested in terms of care and responsibility for the future asset.

Donations to swimming pool:

Mr & Mrs Richardson, C.B.S. Engineering Ltd., Stationery Supplies Ltd., M.B. & M. Builders Ltd., Lynch's Foodmarket, Te Atatu Mower & Home Supplies, Fisher Timbers (Henderson) Ltd., Broadway Foods Ltd., General Foods Corporation, Mrs F. R. Sharplin, L. PRIZE GIVING, 1964

The prize giving ceremony is one of the highlights of a school's year and it was pleasing to see so many parents and friends demonstrating their interest in the school by their attendance.

In his Principal's Report, Mr Clark expressed his concern about the examination mentality which seemed to be spreading in New Zealand education. He doubted the value of examination results in an index of a child's ability, particularly when the exam was set and marked by people who did not know the child. School Certificate is the most glaring example, in that while it exerts a stranglehold on courses offered and subjects taken, it is an achievement which is insignificant for able students, and impossible for many others.

The guest speaker was Mr Kinsella, the Minister for Education, who spoke at length on the challenge of the Technological Age, its specialisation and its demands, which, he said, could be met only by people who had taken full advantage of the education they were offered.

Mrs L. P. Leary presented the sports awards and Mrs Parlane the academic.

THE SPEECH CONTEST

The most interesting section of the Speech Contest this year was the Senior Impromptu. The sixth form entered in force and spoke with great aplomb on a wide range of topics. All the Senior prepared speeches, however, seemed to have some major flaw — an indifferent delivery, a lack of preparation, or a deviation from the topic. The only speaker of merit was A. D. McInnes, who has developed a wide range of vocabulary and a fluent delivery.

The Junior speakers, on the other hand, performed better in the prepared speeches, especially N. McGregor, who went on to win the inter-secondary contest.

We would like to thank the judge, Mrs R. M. Beach, who gave such sound advice to the contestants and who was able to weigh up the weak and strong points of the speeches so skilfully.

Winners:

Senior Prepared: A. D. McInnes 1st, S. Perkinson 2nd; Senior Impromptu: Janet Coates 1st, Dianne L'Amie, M. Earl equal 2; Junior Prepared: N. McGregor 1st, Alison Clark, Brenda L'Amie equal 2; Junior Impromptu: G. Spratt 1st, Christine Prior 2nd.

INTER-SECONDARY SCHOOL PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTESTS

Whether the Scots are the only national group in the school brave enough to stand up and fight for their views in public I would not like to say — but certainly they seem to be the most effective. The two boys who have represented the school this year are Duncan McInnes in the Anthony Eden Cup contest and the senior section of the Western Secondary School contest, and Neil McGregor in the Junior section of the latter.

McInnes made a most refreshing speech on Churchill in the Anthony Eden Cup contest — he was the only one of more than 20 contestants to voice a criticism of Sir Winston; this was found rather horrifying by some of the audience, I fear. In the contest against representatives of Kelston Boys', Kelston Girls' and Henderson High School he spoke on Genghis Khan and Machiavelli. Although unplaced in both contests he has shown himself to be capable of thoughtfulness and spontaneity in speaking — in fact, he never makes the same speech twice, even when he is supposed to.

McGregor tamed an audience of Lions most effectively in the Inter-secondary contest. Fortunately he remembered not to stand behind the lectern; if he had stood there he would not have been able to charm his audience as he would have been invisible. He gave a convincing defence of Brains as opposed to Beauty and Wealth, and in spite of having the temerity to imply that male members of the audience could do without beautiful women, he was placed first in the junior section. This is the first time in the three years that the local Lions' Club has sponsored this contest that a Rutherford candidate has been placed so McGregor deserves the congratulations of us all.

Form 6 Discussion Groups:

Two informal lunch-hour discussion groups have been meeting since the beginning of the second term — 6A group and a 6B group. Both of these were designed as situations where young people could talk freely over coffee about the matters that interested them. We feel that these have been worthwhile particularly as giving people a chance to listen to other's opinions both sympathetically and critically in an informal atmosphere.

We hope that next year further activities can be organised. Possibilities are a lunch-hour Discussion and Debating Society and a continuation of senior informal discussion groups. With sufficient support and interest from pupils at all levels these activities could really give pupils a place to air their views freely, and a situation in which they could learn a great deal about the arts of listening and talking.

Our Sponsorship Scheme

How would you like to knit five jerseys in one week? One Korean mother did! The bulkie knit wool that we sent to Korea, Hong Kong and Greece was enthusiastically received by our children and their parents. One Korean mother brought her five children back to the Administrator a week later and they were all wearing their new jerseys — and big smiles. A Korean boy described the wool as soft rope and a Hong Kong girl as knitting-string! Needless to say we have sent more again this year.

You will be pleased to know that the Christmas present money was sent in time this year. It was rather disconcerting to receive a letter from one of our Greek girls thanking us very warmly for the 400 drachmas (£5) that we sent her for Christmas but which she had received in April! This extra at Christmas is very much appreciated by our children as it helps them through the winter season.

How would you like to leave school at twelve? Just imagine how terrible it would be if you could not go on to High School. Did you say something? We have received a rather sad letter from our Greek girl, Efthimia, who has just left primary school. What will she do? She has little chance of getting a job as she has no skill to offer so she will stay at home with her mother. We have written to the Greek Welfare Agency and asked them if it would be possible to send Efthimia to a Vocational Training School if we paid the fees. We have paid the fees for a Korean girl to learn sewing and we hope that soon she will be in a position to earn her own living. Although this form of help is expensive we feel that it is insufficient merely to feed and clothe a child; we must take a wider view and show them the way to help themselves — or as Mr Barton would say: "Let's get behind them and push hard".

We have just heard that our Greek girl, Emily, and the rest of her family are living in a stable as they cannot afford to pay rent for a room. Siu Foon and her family are living in a pig sty in Hong Kong. A Korean family of ten, sponsored by a staff member, is very happy as they have just managed to get a new "house". Imagine ten people in a room eight feet by ten feet.

It was very pleasing to us that the English SCF were so impressed with our work at Rutherford that they published an account of our activities in an English paper. THEY said that we must be the top school for helping the SCF. It is much better when you don't have to pat yourself on the back!

Sir Walter Nash emphasised in his Rutherford address the need for the countries that have plenty, to help those countries that are in desperate need. He praised the work that you are doing in this direction at School and praise from such a man is very gratifying.

However, this is more than most of you can do. When you leave school most of you will have a regular income. When you work out your budget, put aside a certain sum of money weekly for helping the unfortunate. It may not be much, but let it be regular.

"Two ice-creams, please," (pleasantly)

"Tsetop, it is not the right time for ice-creams," said Mrs Joass firmly.

"Two ice-creams please," (very firmly).

Graham looked nervous.

"Come on, Tsetop, we can't get them now."

"Two ice-creams please", (very firmly).

"Tsetop — you can't —"

"Two ice-creams, please", (very, very firmly).

He got them. Do you know that he is the only person at this school who has put it across Mrs Joass?

Looking after a Tibetan boy who has recently been in hospital recovering from a heart operation had many unforeseen problems. One of the worst was trying to keep him from running and playing football too strenuously. I told him that he was not to run when he played football with his friends after school. However, I did not specifically mention morning interval and lunch time so it was really my fault.

Teaching reading had its problems. At first he was quite content to rip through Janet and John. I was bored to tears but I comforted myself with the thought that soon we would be up to "Little Red Hen" which was one of my favourites many many years ago. That was the exact place he bucked.

"No," wailed Tsetop. "This one no good. I no read".

"Tsetop, this is a good story".

"No, it is a bad story — a very bad story," he added, emphatically.

"What's upset your applectart now?"

"That hen, she is wrong. Hens do not wear dresses — and hens are not red, they are white. Many, many lies are there in this book that you have given me. I will not read it. I do not read lies. My father and mother would not wish it that I should read lies," he added virtuously.

"Well," I capitulated weakly, "what will I give you for reading then?"

"Ah! Yesterday I saw this picture in the paper collection. It is a good picture. You will write me a story about it. I will find many, many pictures for you." He whipped out a picture of a tiger gnawing happily at a man's arm, and in due course produced another of a man sitting precariously in the fork of a tree with a crocodile leering invitingly beneath. Little red hen didn't have a chance.

When I had pleased him I was described rather patronisingly as "a good old girl". When I had displeased him I had to listen to something like this.

"You are lucky," sigh.

"Yes, I am."

"You are lucky you have such a good man, such a kind man."

"Yes, Tsetop."

"Many bad things you do. And does he get cross?"

"No, Tsetop."

"He is very kind, such a good man. Last night you burnt the potatoes and —"

"Tsetop, belt up."

"No, I must say it. He is a very kind, a very good man and you are a very bad old girl."

He was very tidy and very hardworking in the home. One Saturday I got all my shoes out to clean and unfortunately was called away to a rather lengthy phone call. When I got back the shoes were gone and Tsetop was busily sweeping the floor. I smiled warmly at him.

"Thank you, Tsetop."

"No trouble, it's aw right."

That night the dog howled. It is very seldom that he does howl so my husband got up to see what was wrong. My shoes were in the dog's box and the dog found it rather uncomfortable.

One thing he had in common with Rutherford pupils; he saw no point at all in using punctuation marks or capital letters.

"Why? What's the use? You tell me and I will put them here and there, but if there is no use I will not. English is very funny. It is not easy like Hindustani or Tibetan!"

As I failed to convince him of their purpose he either left full stops out altogether or scattered them like confetti all over the page.

All machines fascinated him — particularly ones in which you just pushed buttons and things happened, or perhaps those in which a little key was turned and a steering wheel wiggled experimentally. The harshness and lack of sympathy displayed by our traffic officers was brought home to him by their telling him that he would be fined about £50 and made to stay in New Zealand until he had paid it. For a while he contented himself by "fining" cars that passed us. Soon, however, he woke to the fact that there was better material close at hand. Me. He sat behind me and watched the speeds with a gimlet eye. If I wavered slightly over the 30 mark a boney Tibetan finger would poke me in the back and a hearty Tibetan voice would roar in my ear "Fined £50!"

Have you ever heard Tibetan singing? You have? I am not surprised. The mechanics of the tape recorder were soon mastered, and Dorji and Tsetop sang soulfully into the mike.

The next day Tsetop was given some speech work to do on the tape. A little time elapsed, and then very loud and very clear came this Tibetan singing. I stomped in.

"Look," he said happily. "You didn't show me this. I found it myself."

"It" was the amplifier switch!

I crossly put the machine back and told him to get on with his work. And did he?

I had just got back to the front of the room when over it came again. I really stomped that time. I unplugged that infernal machine and was just dumping it in the other room when my composure was shattered by the shout.

"Dawn's a silly sausage."

Later in the car he was very penitent.

"I was very wrong," he apologised. I should have said "Mrs Miller is a silly sausage!" Who knows — he may be right.

The Library

This year has seen a significant increase in the number of reference books in the library, which were bought to try to meet some of the needs of our one hundred or so sixth formers. We do not pretend that the number of books we managed to buy was adequate; but by putting those most urgently required on short loan and supplementing them with books borrowed from the School's Library Service we coped with the more pressing demands.

Next year should see an even larger Form 6 with possibly two upper sixths, so again a good portion of the budget will have to go on reference books which are, alas, often very expensive. But nevertheless one of our first priorities will be to increase the range of Form 6 fiction as our present stock has been read extensively but has been nowhere near large enough.

Another pressing demand is for up to date books on Asia. We have already ordered about 150 books in this field to anticipate the major changes in syllabus next year in history and geography; and we are ordering a wide variety of books, including fiction and biography, to give new readers interesting background reading.

Because of these urgent needs we have so far been able to spend only a limited amount of money on the art section. But we did have seven prints of Peter McIntyre's framed and made available for borrowing. These pictures are sprayed with a durable plastic and Mr Regan gave us some large X-ray boxes to protect them when they are being transported. If these pictures remain in such high demand we will increase the number available next year.

Associated with the library this year, we have had two sixth form discussion groups and lunch-time talks by local people who have special knowledge in some field of literature. We would like to thank Mr Gale especially for arranging the visit of Maurice Shadbolt and Sarah Campion.

No notes on the Library would be complete without a tribute to the outstanding work of Mrs Parker. Although our resources are slender few people ask Mrs Parker for reference material without her being able to produce something. Under Mrs Parker's guidance the Library Committee has again worked intelligently and with initiative and several pupils have put in long hours processing and binding books, and working at the issue desk.

The only disturbing feature of the new library has been our increasing difficulty in controlling the two rooms that comprise the library, and supervising the exits all so remote from the issue desk and work-room. We have hopes that the school may soon be granted an entirely new library building of superior design, with facilities for quiet study. With our increasing roll, and the increasing use being made of the library, we will certainly need it.

SCHOOL PLAY: "A MIRACLE OF ST. ANTHONY"

by Maetterlink

When a play is produced there is a large amount of work done by the cast and the unseen backstage crew. For the crew, there are costumes, properties, stage settings and make up to prepare; for actors, there are weary weeks of learning lines, cues and movements, rehearsing and rehearsing and then more rehearsing. There is little wonder that all concerned approach the public performances with both relief and trepidation. This year the demands of the play on the actors were greater than in the previous plays, and the cast responded by working harder. They had to portray characters, not just appear on the stage and say something funny. Because of the efforts that had been made, it was anticipated that the play would be a success, and there is no doubt that it would have been better received at the evening performance if a small element in the audience had not prevented others from hearing and enjoying the performance. Despite this dis-

FRENCH EVENING

To celebrate Bastille Day this year the 5th and 6th form French classes held a French Evening at school on 13th August.

French was the topic of the evening and everybody tried his best to converse in French. We were very lucky in having at the function four Tahitian pupils who were being billeted by pupils of the French classes. They added enjoyment and fun to the evening by expanding our programme to include French and Tahitian songs, and Tahitian dances which the boys particularly appreciated.

Each class contributed short melodramas and original plays in French. 6A and 6B acted scenes from "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme", and "Le Malade Imaginaire" by Moliere, and a scene from "Topaze". "Les Gros Lot" was cast by 3/4A and a few helpers, most of whom received new hair-styles and soapy faces.

OUTWARD BOUND SCHOOL

The Outward Bound School of New Zealand is ideally situated in the Marlborough Sounds close to the sea for reasonably safe sailing, good rivers for rapid canoeing and many low mountains with snow on only in the winter.

The school is run with strict discipline with very tough P.T. and cold swims in the early mornings, so that by the time the course is over everyone is fit. We got little or no help from the instructors once the first week of initial training and lectures was over, and in the other two weeks, we practised what we had learnt, and we were told things only once.

appointment, both cast and staff involved in the production enjoyed the task.

Cast — In order of appearance:

Virginie, Christine Parlane; St. Anthony, Jurgen McCarthy; Gustave, Tim Shadbolt; Joseph, Kevin Eagle; Achille, Ron Delgrosso; Leontine, Janet Coates; Valentine, Robyn Hewetson; Rector, Phillip Maurice; Doctor, Tony Hunt; Mademoiselle Hortense, Shirlene Diver; Sergeant, Duncan McInnes; Constable, Stephen McEwan; Commissary, Phillip Maurice.

"Le trompeur trompe" was acted very successfully by Mr Pryor's French class. "Les Mentres chez le Coiffeur" and "Au Chant des Oiseaux" were two melodramas put on by Miss Cotton's class, in which all the actors were killed, leaving the floor covered with bodies. But the most original and most humorous was "J.B.", acted by Miss Cotton's class.

To complete Bastille Day in the traditional way there was a small display of fire works and a supper which consisted of cakes, French loaves and cheeses, and a large cake decorated with a map of France.

Our thanks go to the organizing committee — Catherine Lewis, Thelma Flynn, Lynnette McCurdy, Robert Small, Wayne Crisp, and Neil Morris; and to Miss Cotton, Miss Southby and Mr Pryor who made the evening a great success.

The complete course is designed to instil personal confidence and to bring out qualities of leadership. Tackling the confidence courses and initiative tests all help to achieve this as well as such skills as rope work, bushcraft, map reading, navigation and cooking.

It was made possible for me to attend this course because I was sponsored by the Te Atatu Lions' Club. I am very grateful to them for this valuable experience.

A YANK AT RUTHERFORD

A move from the United States of America down-under to the "land-of-the-long-white-cloud" involves more than just a change of season from summer to winter . . . more than a change of time from yesterday to tomorrow as you cross the Date Line . . . more than a change of currency from $ to £ . . . even more than a change of driving habits from right to left side of the road (and from left to right-hand steering wheel). For this Californian it was a switch from the hurried Los Angeles way-of-life (with its 7½ million inhabitants living within an area of 460 square miles and tied together by a 70 m.p.h. motor freeway) to the far more relaxed pace of New Zealand life. It was a mighty change, too, from the dry desert smog to the more refreshing sea-air that sweeps across N.Z., and from such highly spiced American foods as pizza pie, chile-beans, and frankfurters to the less-seasoned foods, and rivers of tea down here.

But, it was in moving from Paul Revere Junior High to Rutherford High School that the greatest adjustments had to be made. For at Revere, unless you are in class by 7.50 a.m. you are late! (But lest you shed a tear for these twelve to fifteen-year-olds, the school day ends at 2.30, and the Pacific Ocean surfing is less than 2½ miles away). And, rather than the neat sight of some 900 in proper school-colour dress, one sees 2,500 pupils with as many different styles of dress.

At Paul Revere, there are five classes daily, plus Physical Education. Each day's timetable is identical, with no variation in classes from Monday through Friday — a timetable that consists, perhaps, of English, History and Geography, Mathematics, Spanish (the most popular language in this once Spanish-occupied country), Science, Physical Education and lunch. And, because the school spreads over 27 acres, there is a seven-minute passing break in between the seven periods. The day starts with a 15-minute form period, during which attendance is taken, absentees are reported to a special attendance office, announcements are both read by the form-teacher and broadcast over a school-wide public-address system by the Principal. Between 9.00 and 9.15 is a nutrition (popcorn, etc.) break. Because of the number of pupils, lunch must be divided over two periods, with the lower-division (12 to 14-year-olds) eating from 11.00 to 11.50, and the upper division (14 to 16-year-olds) eating between noon and 12.45. Many pupils buy hot dishes (franks, tacos, spanish rice, etc.) as well as salads, milk, ice-cream and popcorn, from the cafeteria. Lunch is eaten at tables beneath the warm California sunshine (rain? what's that?). Instead of three terms, Revere has a two-semester year, with a change of program (and teachers) in mid-September (after a three-month summer holiday), and again, in February. There is a maximum of four home work nights each week, with none given over weekends. No caning either, although the Boys' Vice-Principal has a well-used ping-pong paddle and a wicked backhand. No certificate examinations are given. Each teacher prepares his own finals.

At least thirty buses serve the school, starting to pick up the pupils at 7.00 a.m. from the mountain and seaside homes about the Pacific Palisades and West Los Angeles area. These buses are waiting well before the 2.30 school closing. Unlike Rutherford, there is no classroom separation of the boys and girls. Each class totals between 36-40 pupils. School elections are held twice a year for the student officers who run many of the activities . . . there is even a Student Court to decide on punishments.

Interestingly, well over half of Revere's students intend to continue with a University education upon completion of the three years of Junior High and another three years of High School. Generally speaking, the American teenager seems to be more worldly, informed, even intellectual. He concentrates, too, on such things as the latest dance steps, flash-cars, guitar playing, baseball, and dating. He usually finds ways of earning money over summer holiday's thirteen weeks and during his spare time. Though uniforms are not worn, neatness is expected. Children are required to attend school until the age of sixteen with all education up to University level cost-free.

I consider myself to be one of the luckiest of my fellow two-million U.S. teachers to have been chosen by the Department of State for Fulbright exchange to N.Z. I hope that Miss Spence has met with the same wonderful courtesy and friendliness at Revere as I have enjoyed at Rutherford. After my return in September 1966 I expect to have many wonderful memories of this rare country. If perhaps you find yourself in West Los Angeles, California, I hope you will stop at Paul Revere Junior High School and say "Hi" to —

—Mr Thurm "that Rutherford Yank"

Original Contributions

Editor's Comment:

Perhaps the modern world is at fault or perhaps young people have always been affected by the violent, unjust, and aberrant aspect of society and human nature. Whatever the cause, it is clear that the contributors of this section of the magazine are inspired by the darker side of life. The recent gaol riots, suicide missions, fear, pain, and violent death are their preferred themes. The futility of suburban life is hinted at, and even family and school life are seen pessimistically — though here the pessimism does not seem to go very deep.

The peculiarly gloomy tones of these contributors is not the result of selection, for almost everything submitted was concerned with one of the themes mentioned above. Could it be that more cheerful people are too busy being cheerful to write for the magazine? or do the mere observation of and meditation on life necessary to the writing of anything, force the writers to the conclusion that nothing wholly good exists? Of course, it may be, and not only to the young, that evil is intrinsically more interesting than good and therefore a better subject for literature.

THE SAMURAI

Altitude 2,650ft. — Oscillation from target 200 kilocycles — prepare to dive.

The Mitubishi Zero staggered around in a slow roll, its ailerons rising like stiff cats and its red circles gleaming like pools of blood in the sun. Inside the perspex cockpit sat Sogun Yashimake — this man was preparing to commit suicide, for, in approximately 32-58 seconds, he would be a heap of cinders in a wreck's cold arms with several fathoms of ocean above him — just another pilot who glorified the Japanese Empire. But was it worth it?

Altitude 2,000ft. — Oscillation from target 300 kilocycles in steep dive.

He knew war and its trappings, as he had fought in the hot, steaming jungles of Malaya, where the bodies lay in heaps, and there were only the deadly rifles of the British awaiting him in the next ambush and the atrocities that became a part of every British surrender on the road to Singapore. This was not Yashimake's idea of Bushido. Somehow Japanese society seemed brutal, or maybe he was being fatalistic

— he could not tell, because his line of thought was broken by the sight below him. The ocean spread in a sheet of colours like a Jiwo period painting — blue for the sea, green for the coral reefs and a darker green smudge outlining the islands. The whole scene shimmering as if it were a gigantic reflection. In the north lay the pencil-like mark of Tarawa. TARAWA — what an island — Women, Saki and Song. It was now a pitted mass of shell craters, where the Americans climbed over the concrete shells of block-houses in triumph. He pondered if a later civilization ever staggered upon the ruins, what would they think?

Altitude 1,000ft. — 400 kilocycles from target — going into graveyard dive.

Yes, those were the days! Leave once a year to visit his family at Kobe and to take a picnic party to Magoya, and stand in awe at the Pagoda of Kyoto. Now, never more. He could see his target looming like a blemish out of his painting. The ship was definitely an eyesore, and now he was going to wipe it from the face of the earth. He pondered upon the fate of the sailors, yet propaganda said they were ignorant, heavy-handed idiots who took no pleasure in the sight of floral arrangements, and this he would accept.

Altitude 800ft. — Oscillation from target 950 kilocycles — GOOD LUCK.

What a farewell, he laughed. A Nipponese soldier never lost his sense of humour. Suddenly a strange sensation came over him — he realized he was afraid. His fingers convulsively tightened on the control stick and he could now see every detail on the ship from its radio tower, etched in silver, to the black barrels leering menacingly towards the plane. Then the roaring crescendo of contact before final oblivion.

SO DIED A SAMURAI.

Washington News 4/4/44.—SERIOUS NAVAL DISASTER. Today a Kamikaze pilot destroyed the U.S. MAINE. Due to the great courage of our sailors, casualties were few. Today the Marines began a new offensive to capture Arakue.

THE SCHOLAR'S LIFE

With shrill persistent clamour
One is awakened from sleep.
Sleepy hands stop the alarm,
Outside it is still half dark
And one's bed is very warm.
Up! those hands command Up! Up!
Sullenly you obey them,
Then they fly around the clock.
Hurry, or you'll be late! they cry.
At twenty to nine precisely,
Every pupil is caged.
At nine all pens are busy
Writing facts, facts and more facts.
Facts to learn and parrot off!
History, Geography,
Biology, French and Maths,
All these one tangled mess.
"Quick, quick, quick, faster than that!
This to learn, to do, Stop now,
Finish this, do that, come here.
No! I said do this not that".
"Yes, Sir, no, Sir, of course, Sir.
By tomorrow, Sir? Yes, Sir,
But all my history, Sir!
Do it just the same? Yes, Sir.
All my work is still half done,
It is late, bed is welcome.
School, homework, dinner, sleep,
All one maddening cycle.
Tests to diligently learn,
Marks are given and recorded.
Then exams! That deadly foe!
A reproving glare is cast,
"You must work harder than this!"

THE DOG

. . . the lawyer says if I act good I might get away with two months in here. Mt. Eden is pretty lousy, but I suppose it won't be for long. I love you very much.

Your husband,
Larry.

He'd been away for two weeks now, but it seemed like an eternity. Afraid of being pointed at, afraid that people would whisper behind her back, she hadn't been down to Henderson since they had taken him away. And it was so silly really . . . this big, fat man had knocked her over, and Larry had shouted "What the hell d'ya think you're doing?" and punched the man in the stomach. Then, suddenly, the joker was lying there, on the footpath, eyes staring, and gasping like a fish out of water; and then there were people shouting, and four policemen were holding Larry like he was a madman or something . . .

She turned off the light, and, suddenly, the ominous silence of the Waitakeres crept in upon her. The sombre kauris, standing like the forbidding bars of some gigantic cage, threw their long, dark shadows in at the window, across the half empty bed and, turning an abrupt ninety degrees, climbed up the wall.

Then the dog began to howl — a long-drawn, heart-tearing sound. She shuddered, and buried herself in the lonely bedclothes. But the comforting hollow rejected her — the sheets were cold. She moved toward the other side of the bed and the strong comfort of Larry, and found . . . nothing. She bit her lips and bitter tears welled up in her eyes and ran down her cheeks, to fall on to the sheets of the bed which had once been the consummation of life and was now hateful in its unresponsive emptiness.

And still the dog howled! Chained in the corrugated iron kennel outside the window, its shuddering lament echoed the silent anguish that was tearing her remembering body.

"Stop! O please stop!" someone was screaming, "For God's sake, stop it! I can't stand it any more!" And then she recognised her own voice. What right had a dog to howl like that — as if it had more grief than she! Oh, how she hated it! If only she could get rid of it. Then suddenly, illogically, it was all clear to her — that screaming dog was at the bottom of it all . . .

"Must get rid of it," she muttered to herself as she stumbled toward the cupboard where Larry kept the gun. He always kept it loaded in case of possums, she remembered, dragging it out, barrel first, and carrying it back to the window, which she flung open. She shivered, in her flimsy nightgown, at the cold air that rushed into the bedroom. With it came the pungent smell of the bush — she felt nauseated. But all else was forgotten as, once more, the dog articulated its pulsing cry into the sky and, like an arrow, into her bleeding heart.

A strange calm came over her, and her hand was steady as she rested the gun barrel on the window sill, pointed it at the dark shape on the lawn, and pulled the trigger . . . nothing happened!

"The safety catch! The safety catch!" Larry's voice, frustrated and losing his temper as he had tried to teach her the intricacies of using a rifle. An acute pang of remembrance swept over her, and her hand was shaking as she flipped the catch. A single shot shattered the stillness of the night! The howl stopped suddenly. Then there was a horrible retching noise, and all was still once more.

And then she was back on the bed, her body racked with great, shuddering sobs that echoed round the walls of the lonely room and drifted from the window out into the sad night. Somewhere, a morepork called.

BEACH SCENE

Sometimes it takes the wind and the rain and the dark, brooding clouds to bring out the indescribable beauty of a lonely place.

The dinghy keel grated noisily on the shale. The huddled, oilskin-clad figure in the bows uncoiled and sprang over the front to pull it higher on the beach, cutting his feet on the jagged, half-broken shells.

The shells, held upright by small pebbles, formed a white chequerboard pattern amid the red stones. The tide was halfway in, the beach a mere eight feet of steeply shelving shingle. Overhanging pohutukawas cut the beach off at its extremities, where the sliding pebbles became steep banks of red stone.

The sea, like a huge, unironed grey sheet, spread away from the shore, following the deep indentations, shallow reaches and rocky promontories of the 'u-shaped' bay. The great grey sheet was, however, by no means featureless. The wind, sweeping out of the hills, chased itself across the water in crescents of darker grey, like the scales of some gigantic fish.

But the wind, so seemingly impotent in the bay, had unleashed greater forces without it. Beyond the island which protected the entrance to the bay, twelve miles of water, whipped to a frenzy, dashed itself against the headland, flung ragged remnants of itself up the scarred cliff and retreated for another futile assault.

With the stinging, salt-laden wind came the rain, chasing like maniacal curtains of chiffon across the bay. Beyond the bay they went, over the marshes at its head and into the hills beyond, separating the jagged ramparts into sheets of varying hues as they retreated into the distance and were lost in the clouds.

The lonely figure on the foreshore turned to the hills beyond the beach. The beautiful, smooth-faced, green-gold hills, so clear in the damp atmosphere, with the gold grasses on the ridges and green rushes in the hollows, stood out against the lowering sky. The trees, straight stemmed and richly foliated, stood in clusters, tidily, like a child's painting, yet more vivid and intricate than ever a child portrayed.

It was towards these clusters that the dark figure on the beach moved, cursing the golden-headed paspallum which clung to his legs, and the rain which formed rivulets down his face and trickled down his collar, and the beautifying wind which tore at his oilskins.

STRANDED IN A DEEP LIFT SHAFT

The atmosphere was dark, cold and unyielding like the four solid concrete walls surrounding the two people. The air seemed to be getting foul and the floor was a tangled mess of wires set in the cold concrete. Many feet above them in the dull gloom loomed a terrifying and dark object—the lift. Like the devil himself waiting to descend upon them, it was hanging above their heads waiting to drop mercilessly upon them and destroy them. It would be cruel and harsh when it did, because it would be a slow death. The air would be slowly crushed from their bodies. The thick wires began to tremble violently. The lift was beginning to descend. Death was only a few minutes away.

As the dark lift began to bear down on them the girl remembered the one other time that darkness had descended on her. It had been the time she had fainted. It had been only because she had jumped out of bed too quickly when she was only half awake. Her amusement changed to tenderness as she remembered how worried her mother had been at the time and how she had fussed and fretted over her.

At that moment she was dragged from her thoughts by a pitiful moan from the little man beside her. He was short, dumpy and extremely bald, and in the dim light the girl could see the beads of perspiration gleaming and glistening softly on his head. They were like silver dew-drops in the early morn, glistening on a delicate and extremely smooth leaf.

Suddenly an uncontrollable feeling surged through the girl's body. She felt she could not breathe, and she put her hands in the air to push the approaching lift away. She must stop it from closing her into this tiny space. She was hysterical and started screaming and sobbing loudly. The cold concrete walls only bounced these sounds mockingly back at her. The lift was very close now . . . Suddenly her screams of terror turned to screams of agony and they were joined by those of her companion. Then all was quite still and quiet once more, but two people lay crushed beneath the unknowing and unfeeling lift.

THE HAIRCUT CHECK

The haircut check,
That day of doom,
Let's look at the scene,
In Mr B's room.
"Bend, over my lad,
And touch your toes,
Your hair is too long,
And I don't like your clothes."
"But sir," whines the culprit,
As he imagines the pain,
That follows the sound of that whistling cane,
"My hair's not too long.
My clothes are all right,
I'll have my hair cut,
This very night".
"Bend over, my lad,
I'll soon fix you!
By the time I finish
You'll be black and blue".
Down swishes the cane,
A perfect strike,
Now there's a lad,
That won't sleep tonight.

FREEDOM

Behind him was a trail of dust being whipped up into the air, like great puffs of smoke. Beads of perspiration flowed from his tired dust-covered face. His horse smelt, as the sweat from its body mingled with the dust in the air. He knew he would have to find water soon, as his horse was near exhaustion as she staggered onward.

Suddenly, the faithful animal shuddered and fell. In a desperate attempt the man tried to get her on her feet, but she just lay there. He realised, then, she would never rise again.

His own dust was settling, but he could see a fresh cloud rising about a mile away. For the hundredth time the back of his sleeve was wiped across his dripping face. He patted his horse's motionless body and ran. The word 'run' echoed through his brain; pounded through his legs and body. He tripped and fell. When he looked up, he saw a cliff. How very high and green it looked. A shot rang out as he pulled himself up. His legs ached; his body ached. He looked up at the sun gleaming so brightly down on him. It was mocking him, he thought. It was laughing at him because he was not free. The sweat poured from his face as he climbed. Pain shot through his shoulder. He felt as if he were on fire. His hands slipped; the cool green grass whipped across his hot face.

He opened his eyes. Above he saw the blue sky, the rolling clouds, a flower — one lone flower — amongst the bush and grass, fighting to stay alive; to get its share of sunshine, to live on the green cliff. He stretched out his hand and touched the flower. The breeze felt so cool on his face. Suddenly his body did not ache, his hands did not slip! He was falling! He remembered the flower — it was fighting to stay on that cliff — it was fighting for survival. He at last was past that; he was falling to freedom.

THE CONE OF SILENCE

Heart pounding,
Blood racing,
Eyes widen,
Lost in that world of silence,
That frightening world.
Then the silence blends into an unbearable pain,
I run, I run, till my heart pounds normally.
My blood flows slowly,
My eyes close.
Then there is happiness,
And into a twilight world,
I walk slowly as if nothing had happened.

MT. EDEN PRISONER

I lie, cowed by the glare of normal life
Which streams with the sun through the nakedly silhouetted prison bars
Recoiling from the noise of the Newmarket traffic
The sound of freedom
Which I can never know,
Because I must pay my debt,
My living life
To society — that amorphous monotonous mass
That holds dear to its heart,
Images of television caricatures
Sixth-acre sections,
A good paying job,

A wife and kids,
 A nice suburban home surrounded by
 A neat suburban lawn and flower garden,
 Stereotype
 It is they who are in a prison — not me,
 In a prison of conformism,
 Bound by the shackles of parental
 And institutional conformism
 Being for their whole lives the sheep who follow
 And yet there are times when I envy their conformity,

For even they must sometimes feel the breath of a summer wind

On their sun-tanned (with or without the sun)
 faces

Hear the beauty of birds exulting in existence
 Sense the texture of a breaking wave

Or a woman's hair
 Or . . . all right! there's no need to push me,
 I'm going out to your exercise yard

To stumble the duration of another morning,
 Through those eternally familiar
 Callisthenics of abjection.

THE MISSION

His face looked ugly and out of proportion under the dim yellow light. A large scar ran across his left cheek just under the eye. His eyes!
 Never had I seen as much cruelty before as I saw reflected in those eyes. Small eyes, with an enchanting but evil-looking slant upwards, narrowing at the outside corners.

"Probably from the East," I thought.

His lips were set in a grim line turned down at the corners and hanging limply from them was a slowly diminishing cigarette.

His hands lay relaxed on the table, then, as he shifted his glinting eyes to meet the eyes of each of the other men, he brought his hand up to his cigarette, squinting and screwing up his face slightly as he did so.

He stood up and pushed his chair back. I wriggled closer to the grating in the wall to get a better view.

"Well, gentlemen," he said, with a slight accent in his speech, "I cannot make things any clearer than they are and I feel there is no need to. If anything does go wrong — but I have no doubt that it won't — you all know what to do.
 You will each be given a single capsule. We can take no chances or risks. Even the slightest suspicion aroused will jeopardize the whole plan".

There wasn't a single murmur from the blank, expressionless faces.

" . . . and I am sure, gentlemen," he continued, "you would like things to succeed even if you don't live to see them. There are other people who will appreciate your work".

With sudden horror and fear I realised I had just heard the plans of a suicide mission!

VISITORS

Whenever visitors are expected in our family we have to work out a subtle way to let my father know they are coming. Dad hates visitors.
 He gives many reasons as to why he hates them,
 but, according to him, they are no good.

Mum called a council for us the other day.
 We knew, even Lil, the three-year-old baby, what this meant — visitors! We all trooped silently, morosely into the lounge.

David, he's seventeen, went into the lounge first. He sat down next to Mum. I followed David — I'm sixteen — then Jane (thirteen),
 Kevin (nine), Tony (eight), John (five), Dennis (four) and Lil. My name is Jennifer. As I am the oldest girl, I am usually the one to break the news of the arrival of visitors to Dad. My brother, David, says I have to do it as 'women have a more subtle touch.' I agree with him there, but!

David was the first to speak. He asked "Who's coming this time, Mum?"

Mum replied "The Andersons, Betty and Jimmy."

Tony whistled and said "Cor!" (Here Mum rebuked him in an absent-minded way). "There was a hell of a to-do last time they came, wasn't there?" he concluded.

We all sat silent as we remembered that time
 . . . My father wasn't fond of visitors, but he couldn't stand the Andersons. Neither could we!
 Betty's mannerisms were enough to put anyone off her, but, as Mum said, "She's a friend and,
 God knows, thanks to your Father, we don't have many of those."

The more we thought about it the worse it seemed. Dad had sulked and grumbled all the time they were there and our excuse that he was a 'bit tired' had begun to wear thin by the time they had left. I didn't thank any of us could stand that again.

We were meditating on that point when David came up with a bright idea. He said "Why don't we tell them we're very sorry but they can't come?"

We all thought it was a good idea, but Mum said "No, that would be admitting defeat!"

We thought again . . . We still hadn't found a solution when Dad came in. He looked at our glum faces, groaned, and said — "Visitors?"

We all very brightly said "Yes, the Andersons".
 He looked at us, then started groaning and sulking. We hadn't gone about it in a subtle way!

A MORNING AT THE SHOPPING CENTRE

"Mary! Mary!"

Mrs Mary Lawson, shopping bag in hand, turned as she heard her name called. She saw her friend, Millicent Smith, come dashing towards her, towing her fat little daughter Libby in one hand, and carrying a heavy shopping bag in the other.

"Thought I'd never catch you, Mary," panted Millicent. "How's things going — oh, Libby!
 Take that lollipop out of your mouth and say
 'hullo' to Mrs Lawson. Go on now!"

Libby pulled a face. "Won't!" she gurgled through a mouthful of lollipop, and jumped away, careering headlong into Joe, the boy who drove the grocers' delivery van.

"You little . . ." cried Joe, pushing Libby roughly aside as he strode into the grocery store.

"Nasty man!" Libby pulled another face.

"That child!" Millicent sighed. "Cheeky as they come. Lucky that Joe Sutton didn't hit her — he's got a terrible temper, I've heard."

Mary shook her head. "His sister, Laura, and her husband live next to us. They're always fighting! The noise is awful. And it's more than half her fault. They had a bad row on Saturday.
 My Tom had to go and bang on their door!"

"That's terrible! I'm glad none of our neighbours are like that. Though we've got one or two families that throw big parties on Saturdays.
 And did you hear about the brawl at the hall
 last week?"

Joe came out of the grocers' carrying a heavy box of groceries. What! Those two old dames were still talking? Women! He opened the doors of his van and pushed the box inside.

"Hurry up, Joe!" called the grocer. "You've a lot of deliveries today."

"Okay, Mr Burbridge, I'm coming." Joe tried to keep the annoyance out of his voice.

Millicent looked at the store clock. "The time?" she gasped. "I should be home getting lunch — Stan is on early shift tonight."

Would you like a lift, Mary? We'll be passing your house."

"Thanks, I'd love to."

They walked off down the street.

"Have you heard about Sybil Pravich?" began Mary as they went.

Joe had finished putting the groceries into his van. "He got in, shut the door and switched on the ignition." Come on, Gertie!" The old van rattled off down the main road.

MISSING — PRESUMED KILLED

June, 1964. The pungent stench of the trenches spreads out and penetrates the night. Moonlight plays eerily on a rusty tangle of barbed wire that grates and squeaks as a slight breeze endeavours to brush away the sickly smell. A pair of mutilated hands protrude from the soaked ashen soil; one hand seems to point at the sky — straight into the very heart of heaven — with an accusing gesture. A Bren-gun stands silhouetted on some sandbags — the clip empty, the trigger jammed by cold fingers locked vainly together in death. A frozen dead body, bloated and blue, clings limply to a damaged barrier; the feet stuck hard in the soft, wet clay.

Crawling stealthily undercover in this ravaged country, a lone soldier probes on to the objective. Suddenly he is discovered and is pinned down by the shrapnel, bursting in small pinkishwhite puffs with tiny flashes. Fear spreads across his blackened face before he finally tumbles into the open. With direction, strength and quickness he thrusts forward into the midst of the barrage, charging with bayonet fixed into the fray, a frenzied movement of wild excitement.
 Foes scatter blindly from in front of this human tornado as he kills confidently, with the aggressive determination born of continued practice.

Suddenly he lurches, spins crazily around and staggers forward, blood pouring from a gaping wound in the thigh. Life ebbing, gun still barking viciously, he sags slowly into the soft, sterile soil.

SPORTS

And so the games have come and gone for another year!

The school is starting to make its mark in the Auckland Secondary School sporting world, particularly in Basketball (greatest number of teams in the competition), Soccer (1st XI playing in the top grade), and Rugby (winners and runners-up in several competitions, with the possibility of the 1st XV being promoted to the B grade).

Our congratulations are extended to the pupils who participated and worked so hard to make this progress possible. We sincerely hope that those who leave this year will carry on with the sport of their choice by joining a club, and so continue to gain the benefit of the physical fitness, companionship and the friendly competitive spirit which sport develops.

We are fortunate in having for groundsman a man such as Mr Smith. He has worked wonders with the playing fields, and has spent many hours of his own time keeping the grounds in such a condition as to draw envious comments from coaches of several older established schools.

Sports and competitions are a good way of stimulating and developing ties between past and present pupils, and as Rutherford may now be considered to have come of age, past pupils may wish to continue their association with the school by forming an Old Pupils' Association.

BOYS' INTER-SECONDARY ATHLETIC MEETING

The Boys' Inter-Secondary Athletic Sports were held at Eden Park on Saturday, April 3. Although we did not win any finals, we had the largest Pat Brosnan was third in a heat of the Senior 100 yds and Linda Straker was third in her heat of the Junior 50 yds. Janice Hayter finished 4th in the Junior 75 yds final, after winning her heat.

The Intermediate proved the most successful team. Margaret Wilson was second in a 75 yds heat; and Heather Pook, with a good performance in the discus, was placed second with a distance of 89ft. 4½in. The Intermediate 150 yds was the only event run in grades. Yvonne Willering was second in her heat. In the final, after a tremendous effort, Yvonne finished in second place. The time was only 0.3 seconds outside the record. The Intermediate relay team finished second in the final.

Thanks are due to the manager of the team at the sports, Miss M. Blyth, and to the coaches, Miss J. Longley and Miss F. Spence.

BRYANT MEMORIAL ATHLETIC CHAMPIONSHIPS

This annual event against wide competition was held at Pukekohe on Saturday, March 27, and was a good lead into the Inter-Secondary Sports on the following Saturday. Competition was of a very high standard, and although we did not feature prominently in the result sheet, our team acquitted itself well.

Results:

A. Donaldson, 3rd in the Intermediate 220 yds, 1st in the Intermediate 100 yds, 2nd in the Intermediate Long Jump. The relay team was third.

SCHOOL STEEPLECHASE

For the first time the school held its own steeplechase races this year, on a course devised by Mr Allan around the perimeter of the school grounds. Owing to bad weather these races were transferred from the last day of Term 2 to the first day of Term 3. INTER-SECONDARY SCHOOLS' STEEPLECHASE

FIRST XV

In the Senior C section this year the team improved upon last year's performance to eventually tie for first place with Northcote College. With greater age and experience and an emphasis on fitness, the team played especially well to earn its place in the competition.

The team was very fortunate in having an exceptional goal-kicker, Murray Shepherd, who scored 97 of the team's 174 points. However, 155 points were scored against the team, indicating the keenness of the opposition.

The team's results were as follows:

First Round:

- v. Onehunga H.S., drew 8-8.
- v. Lynfield College, won 19-6.
- v. Rangitoto College, won 9-6.
- v. Pakuranga College, lost 6-13.
- v. Seddon Memorial T.C., won 16-12.
- v. Northcote College, lost 0-3.

Played 12 games; won 8, drew 1, lost 3.

In the annual game against Dargaville High School, Rutherford maintained its unbeaten record by winning 11-6.

This year's team, the school's first real 1st XV, owes its thanks to the work of the coach, Mr Nicholas, and numerous other people who have helped make a success of the 1965 season.

SECOND XV

This team had an entirely successful season, winning all its competition games and defeating both other zone finalists, thus winning the grade competition outright. Players quickly settled into their positions and some convincing wins resulted.

Players who deserve mention are: John Hagan, with his driving forward play; Richard Compton, who scored 10 tries; goalkicker, Peter Croft; and half-back, K. Collins.

The team would like to express its thanks to the coach, Mr Jeffcoat, for his advice and encouragement.

Played 13 games, won 13; Points for 245, against 39.

Team: K. Collins (captain), J. Hagan (vice-captain), R. Baxter, A. Burney, S. Chalcraft, R. Compton, P. Croft, A. Dorset, M. Earl, T. Earl, M. Ennis, R. Harris, R. Maniford,

The team started the season off in an uncertain manner, but gained strength later in the season to register good wins over the top teams and finish second equal in its section.

Thanks are due to Mr Allan for the work he put into coaching the team.

Played 11 games, won 5, drew 3, lost 3.

Points for 93, against 56.

Team: G. Patrick (captain), G. Taylor (vice-captain), D. Bruce, J. Clayton, R. Delgrosso, G. Eades, R. Eyre, G. Fisher, A. Harvey, G. Harvey, K. Hays, C. Hewer, H. McVicar, N. Nixon, I. Purdie, B. Strid, A. Veltmeyer, K. Waller, K. Worthington.

FOURTH GRADE

The 4A team was the only school team in the top section of its grade and encountered tough competition. This fact together with some injuries meant that the team did not come up to expectations. R. Black contributed 15 of the team's points through his goal-kicking. The team's thanks go to the coach, Mr Pryor, and to parents who provided transport.

Played 9 games, won 2, lost 7.

Points for 45, against 120.

Team: P. Hunt (captain), L. Barr (vice-captain), R. Black, C. Brownlees, G. Croft, N. Jenkin, D. Langston, L. McGowan, B. Morris, N. Morris, R. Muller, B. Murdoch, D. Pilkington, D. Poole, B. Shaw.

The 4C team had a good season winning six out of its eight games and finishing second in the grade. A. Winchester was the main points scorer with 35 points. J. Scott, N. Morris, and L. Pulman each scored 12 points. The team would like to express its thanks to its coach, Mr Johnston.

Team: G. Stainton (captain), R. Jones (vice-captain), J. Arrowsmith, P. Banks, K. Cox, P. Davis, B. Faulkner, B. Gaughan, P. Gibbons, S. Hanson, G. Leitch, R. Lewis, T. McNeil, N. Roberts, D. Sinton, L. Sinton, A. Strid, K. Wright.

SIXTH GRADE

In the B section this year, the 6th grade won four of its games. The team was short of players at first which caused some unlucky losses.

Many tries were scored by R. Rennell, who on one occasion intercepted a pass at the half-way mark and went on to score under the posts. These tries were converted by S. Brosnan.

The team was captained by K. Phyn and was successfully coached by Mr Woods, to whom the team owes its thanks.

Played 9 games, won 4, lost 5.

Team: K. Phyn (captain), N. Strom (vice-captain), F. Body, S. Brosnan, G. Collier, W. Crighton, J. Harvey, A. Heighton, M. Hewer, A. Jones, G. Krissansen, J. MacVicar, P. McVicker, G. Maine, B. Mossong, R. Page, G. Richards, J. Sunde, G. Turner, R. Rennell.

Front Row: D. Taylor, D. Pindur, T. Medcalf, W. Jones, J. Smart, K. Farlow, G. Hughes.

SOCCER FIRST XI

The First XI experienced its most successful season since the school's foundation. It was entered in the Senior B competition and after dominating the first round by winning all games with a goal total of 44 for and only 1 against was promoted to the Senior A competition to replace a team which had withdrawn.

It was fitting that this most successful season should have begun with the presentation of a set of 1st XI jerseys of a most distinctive design by Mr O. Jones, a member of the Board of Governors who has been influential in promoting soccer in the school since 1961.

The team's thanks go to Mr Warren for his coaching and capable management of the team, and to all the supporters who followed the team in all weathers.

We congratulate players who won colours and also D. Taylor and A. Donaldson who were selected to represent Auckland in the under 16 tournament at Hastings.

Played 13 games, won 9, lost 4.

Goals for 64, against 17.

The team's results were as follows:

Senior B:

- v. Seddon Memorial T.C., won 6-0.
- v. Mt. Roskill G.S., won 2-1.
- v. Henderson H.S., won 8-0.
- v. Auckland G.S., won 10-0.
- v. Kelston H.S., won 9-0.

- v. Avondale College, won 5-0.
- v. Mt. Albert G.S., lost 2-6.
- v. Kelston H.S., won 4-0.
- v. Otahuhu College, won by default.

SECOND XI

The second Soccer XI had an excellent season of interesting football. Although the team lacked fitness and skill it pulled off many a game through good team spirit and with the encouragement of the coach, Mr Nairn

We were fortunate in winning both our inter-school games, one against Dargaville and the other against Kaipara.

Played 11 games, won 4, drew 1, lost 6.

Points for 21, against 41.

Team: T. Shadbolt (captain), R. Macmillan (vice-captain), G. Brown, M. Higson, G. Haslip, R. Jessop, J. Jolly, K. Laing, B. Lawrence, R. Rankin, B. Sinclair, B. Wiblin.

INTERMEDIATE "A" TEAM

This team had a very successful season and won all its games. We had to play most of our games away, so we hope we have another soccer field here at school next season.

The main goal scorers were: Ford 12 goals, Sands 7, Vincent 6, Bawden 5.

Our thanks are due to our coach, Mr Hatha-way.

Played 7 games, won 7.

Points for 34, against 3.

Team: D. Fissenden (captain), R. Bawden, N. Blaikie, R. Davis, C. Ford, A. Hillman, M. Jordan, M. Pindur, J. Rutledge, A. Sands, J. Vincent, B. Williams.

INTERMEDIATE "B" TEAM

The Intermediate B team contained some boys of intermediate age but many of the boys of the team were juniors who willingly volunteered to make up the number. Perhaps because of this large number of inexperienced players we built up a not very enviable record of one win, one draw and five losses. The most memorable game was when we were leading our own A team 1-0 at half-time only to lose in the second half. Our thanks are due to our coach, Mr Needham.

Team: K. Hawkins (captain), K. Bradford (vice-captain), G. Banks, R. Dodd, F. Dutch, G. Franks, G. Heald, C. Laird, I. Methven, G. Pook, D. Poole, R. Probert, J. Rollinson.

JUNIOR TEAM

The Junior Soccer team had a good season — apart from the bad weather. The team played in the Auckland Secondary Schools' B section. The team had six games cancelled and won two by default. Our highest score this year was 17-0 against Kelston High School in which C. Campbell scored 12 goals; and we beat Mt. Albert Grammar First team 3-1. The team would like to thank Mr Regan and Mr Davies for their time in coaching, and the parents who assisted with transport.

Played 6 games, won 6.

Goals for 55, against 2.

Team: T. Packer (captain), C. Campbell (vice-captain), D. Carbines, P. Fernandez, M. Gladwin, P. Joass, D. Laird, M. Lyons, N. McGregor, C. Murray, P. Smith, W. Thompson, K. Wilson.

GIRLS' "A" BASKETBALL TEAM

Back Row: Beverley Crisp, Heather Pook.

Middle Row: Kay Holmes, Miss Longley, Yvonne Willering.

BASKETBALL

A Team:

The first fixture of the season was held at Kaipara College. This gave us an opportunity to get our team combinations working. We won this game 20-14. After grading day we had managed to win our way into the A grade and we ended the season with a fair record.

We were all very sorry to have our coach, Mrs Mariu, leave us at the beginning of the winter term.

Our most exciting event was the visit to Queen Victoria School. This has been a long awaited visit for everyone and a well fought out draw 20-20 was most appropriate.

On our visit to Dargaville in July we lost 16-31 against a team which on the day played much superior basketball.

We would like to thank Miss Longley for coaching us and for the great encouragement she gave us.

Played 8 games, won 4, drew 1, lost 3.

B Team:

We started off the season by being placed in the B grade as a result of the matches we won on grading day. Earlier in the season we played Kaipara College at Kaipara, but although we played hard we lost to them 15-14.

Queen Victoria also beat us 11-3. In July we travelled to Dargaville, and played them in miserable conditions. They beat us 24-18, but we thoroughly enjoyed ourselves.

We owe many thanks to Mrs Mariu and Miss Longley who coached us, and to the parents who supervised us to and from Windmill Road on the basketball bus.

Team: Gail Yelavich (captain), Joy Taylor (vice-captain), Vivienne Barbour, Nieske Blaauwbroek, Gaye Moors, Marilyn Stewart, Margaret Wilson.

C Team:

Lesley Hay (captain), Jenny Short (vice-captain), Rayna Beaton, Susan Irvine, Raewyn Luckens, Judith Simpson, Lynette Wilson.

After a struggle on grading day, our team played exceptionally well throughout the whole season winning all games except one which was lost by one goal. During the season, we visited Queen Victoria, where we were beaten 16-20.

We would like to thank our coaches Miss Longly and Mrs Mariu.

D Team:

Carol Marshall (captain), Gay Hewetson (vice-captain), Elaine Brannigan, Jean Midgley, Sandra Murray, Sheryl Thomson, Heather Sawyer, Susan Strawbridge.

We were fortunate in being placed in the D grade as a result of our efforts on grading day but we found the competition very keen during the season. However, a good team spirit developed and we enjoyed all our games.

Our thanks go to Mrs McSporrán for coaching us and encouraging us on Saturdays.

THIRD FORM TEAMS

A Team:

Jan Barnett (captain), Beverley Lindegreen, Helen Murdoch, Carole O'Connell, Tina Patrick, Janette Stewart, Georgina Wineti.

Our team was very lucky in its first season of Collegiate basketball. We surprised ourselves by winning every match we played in our grade, although at the beginning of the season, on grading day, we had lost two. We have improved a great deal through the season, but without Miss Cotton's coaching, we would not have been so successful. We wish to thank Miss Cotton for coaching us so well and for giving up so much of her time to watch us on Saturdays.

Played 9 games, won 9.

B Team:

Mary Barr (captain), Julie-Ann Nicholls (vice-captain), Robyn Anderson, Julleen O'Leary, Lorraine Saunders, Monica King, Mitzi Schwenke.

The school's 9th team had a reasonably good season of basketball, winning all but two of its games. Good teamwork was shown in most of the games. Goal shooting was good, with Monica King goaling eighteen out of nineteen goals in one of the final games, while good reliable playing was shown each week by goal-defence, Julie-Ann Nicholls. The team would like to express its thanks to Miss Cotton for the time and patience she put into the practices.

Played 9 games, won 7, drew 2.

C Team:

The team had an enjoyable season and won most of the matches played.

Team: Judy Follington (captain), Kerry Anderson, Jean Cooney, Ann Halliday, Jennifer Jackson, Janet McLaughlin, Ruth Paxton.

D Team:

Although we did not win all the matches some exciting games were played.

The C and D teams thank Miss Davis for the time spent in coaching us.

Team: Susan Bishop (captain), Carol de Joux, Christine Dagg, Valerie Rawlins, Fay Robertson, Lynette Royal, Janice Turner.

E Team:

Lois McConnochie (captain), Margaret Homer (vice-captain), Deborah Barker, Tina Head, Sheryl James, Robyn Kerr, Yvonne Rae, Christine Walsh.

We had some very exciting games, although they did not always result in a win. Near the end of the season we lost our goal defence, Tina Head, but Christine Walsh filled in ably.

Our thanks go to Mrs McSporrán who coached us and gave up many of her Saturdays to come and watch us play.

FOURTH FORM TEAMS

Team: Lynne Brownlees (captain), Karen Beaton (vice-captain), Elizabeth Bower, Dawn Porter, Gaye Roiall, Leone Stubbing, Henny Verbiesen, Lynette Rhodes.

The team played very well throughout the season. Elizabeth Bower deserves particular mention as she played extremely well in every game. Our thanks go to Miss Beauchamp, our coach.

Played 9 games, won 4, lost 5.

B Team:

Heather Hendry (captain), Sue White (vice-captain), Marilyn Booth, Rita Cumber, Janice Hayter, Yvonne Scown, Dragica Udjur.

The Fourth form B team had a good season, losing only one game to Queen Victoria. We would like to thank Miss Beauchamp who put her time into coaching us.

C Team:

Team: Avis Delgrosso (captain), Jennifer Dorset (vice-captain), Karen Hay, Maureen Grubb, Anne Sinkinson, Janette McGrail, Merrill Davis.

The Fourth form C team had a reasonable season, losing only two games. Maureen Grubb and Karen Hav made a good partnership and Maureen goaled well throughout the season. The other members of the team joined in together and played well. Our thanks go to Mrs Stratford, our coach.

D Team:

Alison Clark (captain), Carole Lawrence (vice-captain), Lynne Butler, Lauree Coles, Linda Nielsen, Karen Maulder, Jill Wilson.

The D team have had an enjoyable season although perhaps, not one with many wins. We would like to thank our coach, Mrs Stratford, for all the time and effort she has put into coaching us.

BOYS' HOCKEY TEAM

Back Row: Mr Morton, R. Barnett, R. White, D. Affleck, P. W. Shepherd, L. Hanlen.
 Front Row: C. Parr, K. Charlton, D. Garrett, S. Milne (Captain), W. Crisp, P. Moore, L. Sibley.

HOCKEY

BOYS' TEAM

This year the 1st XI was promoted to the 2B Section of the inter-secondary school's competition. The team had a disappointing season owing to the lack of experienced players and the cancellation of many games.

Playing on our home ground we were defeated 4-1 by the visiting Dargaville team. The conditions for this game were unfavourable but both the teams showed a keen spirit of contest.

We wish to thank Mr Morton for his coaching throughout the season.

Played 8 games, won 1, drew 1, lost 6.
 Goals for 7, against 26.

GIRLS' TEAM

The Girls' Hockey team again had a not very successful year, but showed some improvement over last year. We expect to do much better in 1966 — even though some of our more experienced players are leaving.

Our keenest memories of this year's games are of the number played in rain, especially the Dargaville game which was played in a torrential downpour.

Miss Southby is owed the team's thanks for her coaching.

GIRLS' HOCKEY TEAM

Back Row: Elizabeth Hillman, Andrea Finlay, Janice Brailey, Miss Southby, Margaret Russell, Shirley Newton, Sue Foulds.
 Front Row: Leigh Miller, Elizabeth Kennedy, Lorraine Rehm, Robin Battersby, Sue Richardson, Lynette McCurdy, Thelma Flynn.

FIRST XI

During the second half of the 1964 season, the First XI played a closely contested game in the Third Grade Competition against Kelston High School, the latter winning outright by the slender margin of 9 runs; and in the final game against Onehunga High School, R.H.S. won outright by 127 runs. Our loss against Kelston made A.G.S. the eventual winners of the Third Grade Competition.

For the 1965 season, the First XI was promoted to the 2A Grade Competition, and at the close of the first half of the season, we found the A.G.S. team again our close rivals, both teams leading the competition with 14 points each.

Two promising players from the 2nd XI, N. Morris and Greg Stainton, were promoted to the 1st XI for the second half of the season to replace R. Compton (retired) and M. Chappell (left for Wellington).

Each year the team has gone from strength to strength, and in the 1966 season, R.H.S. First XI will be playing in the Senior Grade of the Competition which will entail Saturday afternoon play. On present performances, the team should perform with credit to its senior status.

Our thanks go to Mr Moorhead for his continued support and interest, and to our enthusiastic groundsman, Mr Smith, for his preparation of a first class pitch.

2A Competition, 1965:

v. Glendowie College: Draw (rain prevented one day's play).

v. King's College: R.H.S. won by an innings and 13 runs.

v. M.A.G.S.: R.H.S. won on 1st innings by 23 runs.

FIRST CRICKET XI

Front Row: G. Taylor, B. Morris, W. Jones, T. Moorhead (Captain), G. Murdoch, I. Milne, G. Stainton (Vice-Captain).

SECOND XI

The team played well during the season and was successful in winning two out of four games. Eyre (21 wickets) and Hendry (21 wickets), were the top wicket takers, while top run scorers were Crisp (108 runs) and Eyre (97 runs).

The team's thanks go to Mr Berridge, our coach, and the players and parents who helped with the transport.

v. Mt. Albert B team: R.H.S. won on first innings.

v. Avondale: Outright win to R.H.S.

v. Mt. Albert A team: R.H.S. lost on first innings.

v. Lynfield College: R.H.S. lost on first innings.

Team: W. Crisp (captain), R. Hendry (vice-captain), P. Addis, A. Ball, T. Barrie, S. Chalcraft, M. Earl, R. Eyre, J. Hagan, P. Kuhn, N. Morris, K. Phyn, J. Prisk, C. Strid.

THIRD XI

Fourth equal in its grade, with half the matches played, the Third XI has done well and produced some entertaining cricket. If many of the team displayed at times deficiencies which could only be corrected by hard practising, they also showed a willingness to learn from their mistakes. Jessop was the most consistent performer with both bat and ball, while Taylor, Parnell and Richardson all had days when they could do little wrong.

Thanks go to the parents who have provided transport and to the coach, Mr Nairn.

v. Mt. Roskill Grammar: First innings win.

v. Marcellin College: First innings loss.

v. Rangitoto College: First innings loss.

v. St. Peter's College: First innings win.

v. Westlake High School: First innings win.

Team: K. Richardson (captain), L. Reinhardt, M. Barlow, G. Franks, J. Gartside, B. Gaughan, M. Gladwin, M. Hendry, R. Jessop, M. Jordan, D. McVicker, G. Meek, T. Packer, I. Parnell, R. Probert, L. Taylor, B. Wilson.

FOURTH XI

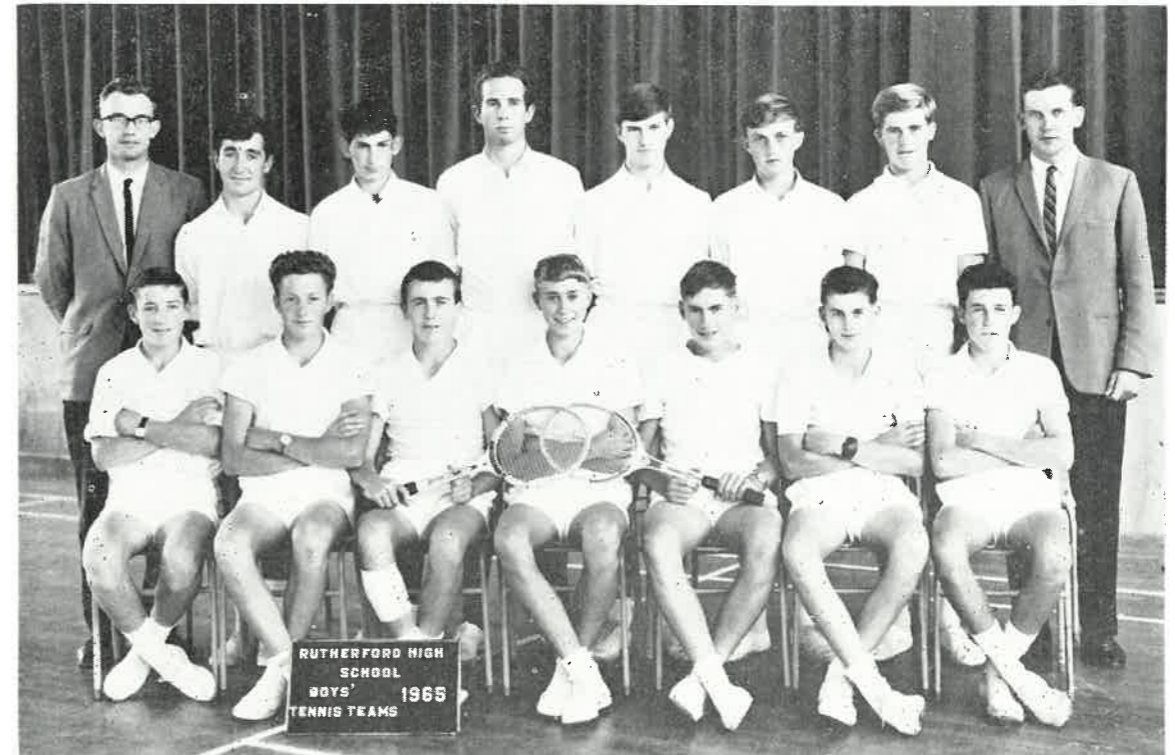

For the first half of 1965, the 4th XI has played four competition matches, winning two outright, one on a first innings win, and has had one first innings loss. It is now lying in second place on the ladder for Auckland Secondary Schools in its grade.

Several non-competition matches have been played, one of which was against the Rutherford 3rd XI. The score ended in the 4th XI scoring 127 while the 3rd XI scored 27.

The best batting average was scored by Jenkins with 39. Jenkins also topped the bowling average with 3.55 runs per wicket. The team's thanks go to Mr Hathaway, the coach.

Team: S. Jenkins (captain), C. Campbell, R. Dodd, T. Duggan, P. Fernandez, C. Ford, P. Gibbons, P. Joass, M. Lyons, N. McGregor, L. Pullman, R. Rennell, G. Turner, K. Wilson.

Front Row: D. Pindur, D. Bruce, G. Patrick, R. Black, K. Farlow, J. Chetwynd, S. Milne.

TENNIS

BOYS' TEAMS

This year Rutherford had a Senior and an Intermediate team playing in the Inter-Secondary Schools' Competition. Unfortunately we could not find enough good, keen young players at the beginning of the year to enter a Junior team as well but there should be a team in each section of the competition next year for the first time. As a result of past performances the Intermediate team was promoted to the A1 section but found the opposition very strong. The teams would like to express their thanks to Mr Bradley and Mr Pryor for helping with their games.

Senior:

Played 8 games, lost 7, won 1 by default.

Intermediate:

Played 9 games, won 4, lost 5, won 1 by default.

GIRLS' TENNIS TEAMS

Back Row: Dorothy Faed, Deborah Bartlett, Gail Yelavich, Dianne L'Amie, Alison Clark, Jennifer Jackson, Sharon O'Brien.
Middle Row: Mrs Stratford, Carol Lawrence, Brenda L'Amie, Marina Comben, Kay Holmes, Jennifer Konik, Merrill Davies, Miss Cotton.

GIRLS' TEAMS

This year there were enough players forthcoming to enter a team in each of the three sections, Senior, Intermediate and Junior. The Senior team in particular has been acquitting itself well. The girls will be very pleased when the trees planted by the groundsman, Mr Smith, grow long enough to act as a break for the wind which comes howling over their courts and is not conducive to good tennis. The teams would like to express their thanks to Mrs Stratford and Miss Cotton and the other teachers and parents who assisted in any way with their games.

- Senior:
Played 7 games, won 6, lost 1, won 2 by default.
- Intermediate:
Played 8 games, won 5, lost 3, lost 1 by default.
- Junior:
Played 6 games, won 3, lost 3, won 2 by default.

ROWING

This year the school rowing club has made excellent progress thanks to the efforts of Mr Reid and members of the club. It has greatly benefited from the donation of another fours shell by the Waitemata Rowing Club and from a short lesson at the West End Rowing Club.

At the moment both skiffs are almost ready for the water and recently work has been done on the ramp which will be a great help in launching the skiffs. Members of the rowing squad are eagerly looking forward to their first row which should be in the near future.

YACHTING

This year a school team participated in the Inter-Secondary School Frostbite Championships which were held at the Wakatere Yacht Club. Even though the team did not qualify for the finals it performed reasonably well in very light conditions.

 Team: M. McVicker, N. Strom, D. Langdale-Hunt.

GYMNASTICS

The members of the Gymnastics club, which was formed at the beginning of the second term, were keen and practised well with the facilities available. A senior and a junior team took part in the inter-school gymnastic competitions in September. They were not placed but the experience gained was very beneficial.

the gymnasts.

Junior Team:

Gaywin Brightmore, Marion Cox, Diane Lee, Christina Sampson; Reserve, Elisabeth Wood.

Senior Team:

Yvonne Fournier, Shirley Newton, Fay Rose, Judith Simpson; Reserves, Jennifer Short, Jocelyn Hall.

The teams' thanks are due to Miss Beauchamp for the time and effort she put into coaching
