In the world of commerce, computers and machines are enabling more and more firms to reduce staff or to handle a greater volume of business with existing staff. Computers, machines and twelve men make all the light bulbs for the United States. The Tokyo-Osaka railway is controlled completely by computers.

That machines are taking over jobs now done by men is an advantage in New Zealand at the moment as we live in a mild state of under employment. But in 1984 it could easily bring about a shorter working week and greater leisure time. This will bring few problems to people with a wide range of interests; but at present a great many people simply would not know what to do with the time.

Secondary schools have some responsibility in planning for this increased leisure. One of our tasks is to arouse an interest in intellectual pursuits, sports and hobbies that will continue throughout adult life. We fail in this with most of our pupils partly because our New Zealand outlook is pragmatic and we want measurable practical results. We embrace a system of examinations which brings a grey, cold note to most subjects. 'Here is a list of New Zealand novels you must read. There is a question in Scholarship on this topic most years'. 'We will not study Communist China this year but East and West Pakistan as the questions in School Certificate are invariably easier on this country'. Obviously we cannot just do away with examinations as even in 1984 there must be some system of sorting out those most capable of doing a job well. But we should reduce the number of examinations and try to reduce their stultifying influence. Mid-year examinations should be abolished (At present at least two examinations are required each year for all pupils by the Education Department). School Certificate and University Entrance should be accredited, without giving those pupils who are not accredited the right to sit. Total accrediting is essential so that curriculums are freed and teachers can spend more time developing the sections of the work in which a lasting interest may be engendered in the pupils. The approach would then be: 'As you are interested in Lawrence's poetry we will continue with it next week, and then we will have a look at what some of the other poets have said on these themes of materialism, sex, and man estranged from nature', or, 'We will study Communist China after all for the nation that Napoleon once described as a sleeping giant is now stirring and China is going to have a tremendous impact on Asia and on us this coming decade'.

Our examination system is one that skims the cream off the cream. That is, we fail 50% at School Certificate; then of those who struggle through we take another 50% at University Entrance, and so on until we end up with comparatively few graduates of high quality. We should offer other sorts of education for the people who cannot make the grade in University Entrance or to University itself, so that the talents and interests they have can be developed to the full. At present we attempt too little too soon. We thrust classical music, art and Shakespeare at pupils who are passing through a stage when they should be encased in a barrel and educated through the bung-hole. If they came to these things later a lasting interest and enjoyment could be aroused. A magnificent modern symphony 'The Inextinguishable' by Nielsen was greeted coldly or with total boredom by a fourth form class this year; but the same record changed hands many times when offered to 6A who have no classroom music.

Worthwhile pursuits outside the classroom should find a greater part in the school. Anyone with talent in art, drama, music, gymnastics and so on should be given every opportunity to develop it. We should also have a careful look at the part sport plays in schools. At present our major summer sport for boys and girls is softball — a sport which very few people play or watch once they have left school, whereas tennis, golf, and yachting find little or no place in school sport simply because we have not enough money to provide the facilities. Because of its national prestige, and perhaps parental pressure, some boys play rugby although they do not enjoy a body contact sport. These boys would probably get enjoyment from soccer or hockey and would go on playing these games long after they have left school.

But perhaps by 1984 leisure time will not be a problem at all. It certainly gives no difficulties in Orwell's novel where Big Brother keeps everything in order with two-way television and compulsory exercises each morning; while in Huxley's vision, 'Brave New World' the people are conditioned so that they either need no leisure or can go to vastly superior entertainments such as the "feelies" where by holding knobs on the arms of chairs at the pictures one enjoys the sensations experienced by the actors.

Probably the truth will be that things will be much as they are today, but there will be just more of us.

—N.W.

STAFF NOTES

The staff has pursued its usual quiet life this year. We were pleased to welcome back two travellers at the beginning of the year—Miss Blyth from a lengthy overseas trip, and Mr Morton from a Woolf Fisher Award. The third term was cheered by the return of Miss Spence from a year in the United States on a Fulbright Exchange.

We extend our best wishes to Miss Graham, Mr Harold and Mr Sinclair, all of whom are to be married during the Christmas holidays.

Four noteworthy events have occurred during the year. We congratulate Mr and Mrs Nicholas, on the birth of their son, Terry, Mr and Mrs Jeffcoat, who also had a son (Stuart), and Mr and Mrs Moran on the birth of their daughter, Kate. Our congratulations, too, to Mr and Mrs Clark on achieving the revered status of grandparents.

Our good wishes go to Miss Pountney, who is taking a term's leave for a trip overseas.

The end of the school year brings its inevitable staff losses. We farewelled Mr Thurm at the end of the second term after an enjoyable association with him. We extend our best wishes to Miss Cotton, who is to be married during the holidays and who is to make her home in Cambridge. Mr Pryor and Mr Johnston, both of whom are leaving for overseas trips, have inadvertently booked on the same ship. Mrs Baker is also going overseas, as her husband has been appointed to a position in England.

Further University studies are luring Miss Akoorie, Mr Naim and Mr Bradley away from us. Mr Allan is planning to devote his energies to the business world, and Miss Strother is leaving to take up another appointment.

The best wishes of those of us who remain in the salt mine go to these colleagues who are leaving. At the same time, we welcome the new members of staff who will join us in 1967.

Mr. R. E. K. Barton

—New Zealand Herald.

It is with mixed feelings of regret and pride that we farewell our Deputy-Principal, Mr R. E. K. Barton, to take up an appointment as Principal of Tauranga Boys' College.

Regret, because we know his worth to Rutherford and we shall miss him. As First Assistant in the foundation years it was from him that the school drew much of its pattern of organisation and its standards of discipline. His fairness, his consistency, his readiness to listen to both sides of a case, his sympathy for the individual are well known characteristics to both pupils and staff. Less well known to the pupils perhaps are those qualities which make him as widely respected in the staff room—his meticulous attention to detail in organisation, his concern for easy staff relations, his sense of humour. Few foundation pupils will forget the assembly at which Mr Barton was so engrossed in conducting mass singing that he fell off the stage—or his comment on that occasion. There are few aspects of school life where his influence has not been felt, even the layout of the school grounds is a very pertinent reminder of his concern for the school.

We feel pride in his new appointment and our most sincere wishes go with him and Mrs Barton in this new venture.

SWIMMING POOL FUND RAISING, 1966

In May, excavation began in the site of the swimming pool; by July the pool itself started to take shape. However, the money, raised by the Queen Carnival in 1964 and by other means since then, was found to be insufficient to cover the costs of the first stage of construction, so a work "week" was organised for the August holidays with targets of £2 for individual pupils and £1,500 for the school.

The burden of organisation fell on Miss Corston and Mr Morton, who spent many hours in the details of preliminary planning. Staff and pupils co-operated in the obtaining and distribution of jobs while the pupils undertook the actual jobs. Overall a truly school effort.

420 pupils earned £2 or more and nine classes averaged £2 per pupil in the form. Outstanding efforts were:

Boys—

£10 or more: N. B. McGregor.

£9: R. D. Hall, M. J. Small, R. W. Small.

£8: K. Enderman, P. J. McVicker, L. J. Bateman.

£7: P. F. Joass, W. A. Mayo, A. E. Benson, K. R. Hays, W. R. Sheary.

Girls—

£6 or more: Colleen Brunton, Leanne Tuttle.

£5 or more: Gail Yelavich, Gillian Barton, Glenys Bury, Beverley Lindergreen, Christina Harris, Carolyn Hill, Kay Wrightson, Kerrie Stent.

Forms—

3A/4A: £4/6/10. 6A2: £2/14/7. 4L1: £2/6/6.
4S2: £2/6/2. 4T1: £2/5/11. 3B: £2/1/4. 3C:
£2/1/2. 3E: £2/1/2. 4C2: £2/-/-.

Congratulations are extended to all pupils who earned their target and to those forms which, by individual and collective efforts, achieved a £2 average.

The pool will be a decided asset not only to the school but also to the local community. Future users of the pool should have reason to thank all those who have worked so hard to raise the money to construct it.

Rutherford Memorial Day

Once again Rutherford Day proved to be a most interesting occasion, both thought-provoking and enjoyable. After the welcome by Mr Clark and songs from the school, the guest speaker, Dr John Reid, Associate Professor of English at the University of Auckland, spoke on the subject "New Zealand's Contribution to Literature."

It is more useful today to talk of 'Literature in English' than of 'English Literature', as throughout the world are many people who have produced kinds of writing, too different in attitude and matter to be characterised as distinctively 'English', but sharing one common element—the use of the English language. Professor Reid believes that New Zealand has given something distinctive and real to literature in English, and thus to the world.

"What I want to do," he said, "is very simple. I want to try to show you that there is something very particular about New Zealand literature: that it is a form which expresses the way of life, the attitudes, values, background and feeling of a group of people living in a particular place—as Australian and Canadian and South African literature in their various ways do."

In order to show this distinctive quality of New Zealand literature Professor Reid first talked of the influence of the British literary tradition on early writing in New Zealand. In the early days most people wrote for an English audience and tried to express the attitudes of exiles. 'Home' for them was twelve thousand miles away; and consequently early poetry was full of references to "meadows and larks and snow at Christmas and the glorious transformation of spring"—references not to New Zealand but to their spiritual home and its traditions. Professor Reid noted in passing that we still preserve some of these traditions: "I think that one of the most stupid customs New Zealanders have retained from these early years is the habit of eating that repulsive, stodgy plum pudding at Christmas time. Of course it's a cold weather meal. You don't eat it in the heat of summer. No wonder Dad goes to bed on Christmas afternoon after gorging that stuff."

Early nineteenth century books were of the kind you would have expected to be written in England. The very first novel written in New Zealand (in 1861 by Major Stoney) was called "Taranaki—A Story of the Wars", and it was "a very poor sub-sub-James Bond type of thriller about horrible tohungas and stiff-stern-upper-lipped English gentlemen in red suits fighting against horrible Maoris . . . This was the sort of idea that the English people expected and that he gave them."

The weakness of early New Zealand literature was that a literature cannot be transposed from one country to another and still maintain its power and vitality. "You can transpose the forms (novel, sonnet, lyric); you can transpose various myths or inheritances (references to Classical mythology, British landscape); but what you cannot transpose is the spirit, tradition and culture of a people, and that is what literature ultimately is: the written or verbal expression of a way of life rooted in a particular place. What gives literature its vitality and personality is not only the art of the writer, but the fact that he feels he belongs to a particular community, a certain tradition. It is one of the great paradoxes of literature that the truer a writer is to his particular circumstances, the more chance there is of his work being universal. It is true, as Carlyle said of the great Scottish poet Robert Burns: "Because he speaks from the heart of a man, he speaks to the hearts of all men."

So long as New Zealanders kept referring to 'home' meaning England or Ireland or Scotland they were not really citizens of this place, and thus lacked the fidelity to their situation that is essential to really great literature.

It was not until the 1920's that truly New Zealand writing emerged, and it came with Katherine Mansfield's stories, and the poems of R. A. K. Mason (which were so much ahead of their time that only fifteen copies of an edition of 250 sold; so Mason went to the end of Prince's Wharf and threw the remaining 210 copies into the harbour as a "nobody wants to read my poems" gesture).

Full acceptance of New Zealand as their own country developed among writers in the '30's because of the depression. "Writers no longer could write about larks and meadows and brooks in England when close at hand hundreds of New Zealanders were starving and thousands were destitute. Things were too real. So New Zealand writers began writing about their own circumstances; Mason and Fairburn and others became recognised as speaking about us and our society . . . and out of this came what I think is the distinctive New Zealand writing."

What are those things distinctive in New Zealand writing?

The first thing of all that strikes one is the sense of equality that is in our writing. English has for a long time been very conscious of the division between classes.

"Bow, bow, ye lower middle classes, Bow ye tradesmen, bow ye masses."

Of course Gilbert is parodying the attitude of the middle classes; but the fact that he can be satirical about it shows how important in the nineteenth century the gulf between class and class was. Now New Zealand, beginning afresh, does not have quite that sense. It has its own classes, perhaps, but they are not the same and not as rigid. Consequently there is a strong sense of every man being equal, or at least having equal rights. This is seen particularly in John A. Lee's novels, Frank Sargeson's stories and Denis Glover's poems. And it is "sometimes aggressive and sometimes rough and sometimes perhaps casual and sometimes graceless, but it is real."

The second quality that emerges is the strong spirit of independence—"The idea that a man can make his own life, his own destiny; that given a chance he will take every advantage of it; that put in tough circumstances he will find a way out of them." This quality is so strong in New Zealand writing that it has almost created a myth—the myth summed up in the name of John Mulgan's novel "Man Alone". It is also found in Denis Glover's poems about the old prospector "Arawata Bill" and in Barry Crump's "A Good Keen Man."

The third characteristic is the New Zealand attitude towards our landscape. In England there are many people who are unfamiliar with bush, mountains, lakes and rivers; but, more than this, much of the landscape is "domesticated, peopled, traditionally smooth, like an English lawn." One of the most striking things to a poet looking at New Zealand's countryside is "so few people to so much land, so much open space." Most New Zealanders, too, are familiar with their open countryside, but it still lacks historical associations.

"Go anywhere in Britain, to the most remote place, and you can be quite sure that that spot is hallowed by some historical or traditional happening. This is not true of New Zealand. We still have to make a history. We still have to give much of our country things that make it meaningful in terms other than those of landscapes." So our poets see that man's relation to our landscape is different—we still have to tame it, to make it ours. "Charles Brasch says: 'The plains are nameless and the cities cry for meaning', and Alan Curmow writes about "a land of settlers with never a soul at home." This is one of the things that New Zealand writers have very much in their hearts."

Then there is a fourth characteristic: that we are still looking for ourselves. "What are we? What is a New Zealander? How close is our tie to Britain? How independent are we? What do I mean when I say I am a New Zealander, like you, or most of you? . . . To some extent our writers are looking for an identity. They are looking for a way of defining a New Zealander as something more than a person who lives in these islands. There is a poem of Alan Curmow's which puts this very well. The poet imagines himself standing in front of a statue of the moa—a bird which could not adapt to its environment and so died out—and saying, 'Am I like that? Have I adapted yet?' He finishes his sonnet by saying:

"Not I; some child born in a marvellous year,
Will learn the trick of standing upright here."

Each of these characteristics by itself may mean little; but all put together (and in our best work they are found all together) they constitute something New Zealand has contributed to the experience of people who read English. Often we do not recognise this special quality—just as we do not always recognise 'the New Zealand accent' in speech, but it is there nevertheless. It does not consist of references to tuis and bell-birds and Maori legends (although there is a very real Maori contribution to our literature, particularly as a certain sense of enjoyment of life, relaxation, not taking things with grim earnestness). It is not the visual things in our environment, but the spirit and tone in which New Zealand writers have expressed themselves. Professor Reid finished by giving some examples from New Zealand writing which illustrate this tone and spirit.

"TREE STUDY" Ross Probert 5G

First, from Katherine Mansfield, our first really great writer, whose short stories changed the whole quality of short stories in English. "She brought to English prose a new delicacy. She made it luminous—she made it glow. And when she turned in her later life (when she was terribly ill) from stories about Europeans to the attempt to recapture her life in Wellington as a child, she wrote those marvellous stories 'Prelude' and 'At the Bay' in which her whole family life as she sees it through the eyes of a child is recreated before us. This was something quite, quite new, and she created it out of her sense of place, her sense of belonging to a community. She opens her story 'At the Bay' with a description which could not be anywhere else than in New Zealand." There is a similar feeling in the works of the poet Hone Tuwhare, particularly in his poem "Not by Wind Ravaged" and in the poem "Rutherford" by Douglas Stewart, from both of which Professor Reid read extracts.

We have writers who are read all round the world: Janet Frame, Frank Sargeson, M. K. Joseph, Sylvia Ashton Warner, James K. Baxter, Eileen Duggan and many others. We have reason to be proud of this, not just because of their art and skill, but because they convey so much that is special to the way we live in this particular place.

After Professor Reid's speech staff and guests adjourned to the Homecraft room where a magnificent lunch had been prepared by Miss McKenzie, Miss Graham and the girls of Form 4D.

PRIZE GIVING, 1965

Giving the Principal's report, Mr Clark commented on the success of the advanced placement course and the slow learner course and spoke forcefully of the need to delay specialisation. He gave an outline of the 1966 Third Form course and the consequent Fourth Form options.

Mrs W. Winstone, the guest speaker, spoke of the challenge embodied in the words: "The state of society is the state of the individuals constituting the society." She discussed how far our goals measured up to the responsibilities engendered by living in a free society and to what end we are employing the education so freely available.

The Sports and Special awards were presented by Mrs A. D. W. Woolcott and the Academic awards by Mrs A. E. E. Clark.

INTER-SECONDARY SCHOOL PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTESTS

This year's contestants in outside contests were the same as last year's: A. D. McInnes in the Anthony Eden Cup and the senior section of the Western Secondary Schools contest, and N. McGregor in the junior section of the latter.

McInnes proved his real ability for public speaking in the Anthony Eden Cup contest. He won third place against strong competition from pupils from more than twenty other Auckland secondary schools, all speaking on the subject "Hopes and Fears for a Multi-Racial Commonwealth". The judges commended him for his sincerity and thoughtfulness of approach and his ability to give the impression of spontaneity and a real concern to persuade his audience. He showed similar qualities in the Western Districts contest, but had a tendency to alienate his audience's sympathies that prevented him from winning.

Gaining his audience's interest and sympathy from the beginning of his speech on "Women's Fashions", McGregor triumphed again by winning first place in the Junior section of the Western Districts contest. His win for the second year in succession was well deserved as he is a speaker of considerable merit and promise.

Altogether this has been a very pleasing year for the development in standards of public speaking that has shown itself, not only in outside successes, but in attitudes within the school.

THE SPEECH CONTEST

The standard of performance in the Senior Impromptu section of the speech contest was pleasingly high this year. All speakers expressed themselves audibly and with considerable fluency, and the speeches were, on the whole, most thoughtful and interesting. The Senior Prepared section was rather less successful, although several speakers showed considerable promise. The main faults were in subject-choice (some subjects being too trivial and others too concerned with recitals of fact rather than opinion and persuasion) and in standard of delivery.

In the Junior section the main fault was that of inaudibility. Most of the contestants spoke both too quickly and too quietly in both impromptu and prepared speeches. However, those placed in both sections spoke clearly and forcefully and succeeded admirably in holding the attention of the audience.

The contest was judged by Miss Corston, whom we thank for her very sound advice to the contestants and her perceptive comments on the strength and weaknesses of the speakers.

Winners:

Senior Impromptu: G. Dunn, 5A.

Senior Prepared: A. D. McInnes, 6A1.

Junior Impromptu: E. Ellis, 3C.

Junior Prepared: N. McGregor, 4A.

Our Sponsorship Scheme

We are helping fourteen children from poverty stricken homes. In some cases our help has been limited to £20 a year but in other cases our help has been much more extensive. We could not in all conscience fail to provide the cost of medical treatment when Lee Myong Ki became ill with T.B. We just had to come to the rescue of Hwang Jong Oh when his mother died at the age of 33 and he became an orphan. It worried us to think of a little Greek girl of 12 hanging around home because she could not afford to go to secondary school. So we solved, for this year at any rate, those three extra problems.

But should we go further? Is it enough to patch and mend when an emergency arises or should we plan ahead? Should we train them so that they can help themselves and become useful members of society instead of destitute beings dependent for their very existence on hand-outs of food and money? Should we not free them from this hunger? Would it not be better to tell our families now that we will help them through middle and secondary school if they can pass the entrance exams? This would save them years of worry and scrimping and saving on their already inadequate food.

It is only through education and training that we can hope to make our children self-sufficient and good healthy citizens. This is expensive even by our standards. Primary education is not free in many countries. In Korea and Hong Kong it costs between £7 and £10 a year for primary school. Korea has a middle school which corresponds with our intermediate schools. There are two main differences, however. You have to pass an entrance examination and you have to pay £26 a year. Secondary education costs about £35 to £40 a year in both countries. These costs include school fees, texts, stationery and uniform. You would love the summer uniform of Wai Bing in Hong Kong. She wears a blouse, shorts and sandals!

Our income seems to have settled to about £400 a year and from that we can pay our sponsorship fees for all our children, send them each an extra £5 for the hard winter months and then do a little extra for one or two families. Our scheme is a voluntary scheme whereby pupils pay in 3d. a week and about £250 of our income comes from this source. We would like to extend our membership to some of those who do not belong, to the new third formers and to our pupils who are leaving us and going to work. There are about a dozen old pupils who are still helping and their help is greatly appreciated but there are hundreds more whose help could mean the difference between a short lifetime of sweated labour in the home or a happier life as a medical worker, teacher or skilled tradesman.

The impetus for the sponsorship scheme came from one of our foundation classes in 1961 and since then it has grown until 500 pupils are members. Could you help to finish what you have started?

One pupil said to me this year: "Why do we help these people? They are used to that sort of life. They are happy living as they are." You cannot be happy if you are starving or sick or if you have no hope. One of the most terrible answers to the above child's comment is to point to the number of suicides in Korea and Hong Kong. As you older pupils know, the 18-year-old sister of Lee Myong Ki killed herself when a flood washed away their meagre belongings. She did not know that we would have helped.

SCHOOL CONCERT

When the final dress rehearsal of the concert took place, it seemed improbable that any unified whole could emerge from such a hotch-potch. But on the night, by some magic, each act went on with the verve and polish usually expected from more seasoned players. It is a well-known fact that youthful performers are the best "scene-stealers" in the business and where there is an entire cast of them the show starts with a great advantage.

In the first half the audience enjoyed a variety of acts which demonstrated the talents of the pupils in many fields, not least that of ballet. One wonders if the New Zealand ballet is aware of the talent waiting to be unearthed. Or can it be that this is the beginning of an attempt by the boys to follow the advice of a recent visiting dancer on acquiring added physical fitness for the sports field? In any case, the dancers certainly made an impression not only on the audience but also on the stage, which has several pits and hollows not previously noticed. However, every show has its ups and downs. By the way, did anyone remember to pick up the junior boy who was at the bottom of the pile in the pyramid? He has not been noticed around lately.

After the interval the audience settled back, as far as the seats allowed, to enjoy the one-act play "Harlequinade" by Terence Rattigan. This went without a hitch, and such is the pull of the footlights that one still notices players with that abstracted air that wraps itself round those who have trod on the heights; that muttering in the beard that comes from conning over lines (or can it be that examinations are approaching? One wonders).

Finally, the backroom girls and boys; what could be done without them? Their work is skilful, sometimes tedious, and always painstaking. The latter is amply demonstrated by the intensive practice of a roll of thunder by one of the effects men. (The rumour that he wanted to be a "big noise" is quite untrue.)

If, to quote a recent authority in Christchurch, a school's level of education is more truly reflected by its annual concert than by its examination results, then Rutherford pupils have set a high standard.

—M.B.

THE SCHOOL PLAY: HARLEQUINADE

The talents and energies of Rutherford High School's Laurence Oliviers and Vivien Leighs were directed to the undertaking of a Terence Rattigan play—"Harlequinade", simply a farce, but involving the complex relationships of a group of actors as they act out their awkward and embarrassing domestic life in front of an audience, who witness the whole proceedings.

The performance of any play owes its production not only to the actors but to those who work behind the scene. It is in this sphere that the co-operation, team work and industry of various departments in the school are really put to the test. In this respect the producer gratefully acknowledges all "wise counsels" and thanks especially the technical advice of the Woodwork, Art and Physics Departments.

The play "Harlequinade" was an admirable choice, on the one hand to present a mature and challenging approach, and on the other hand to provide entertainment, action and drama of a nearly universal appeal. In this list of endless possibilities probably lies the only criticism—of trying to satisfy an audience with too many diverse tastes. Nevertheless, an enthusiastic and an accomplished cast of fifth and sixth formers managed successfully to sustain a mature and polished performance. The cast included: Tony Hunt, Robin Hewetson, Judith Stacey, Ron Delgrossi, Mr Johnston, Trevor Stacey, Murray Reiber, Carol Lawrence, Edward King, Ann Hubbard, Jan Milne, Murray Earl, Lindy Siegert, and Robert Small.

"Harlequinade's" opening and closing night was generally very well received. However, it was felt by members of the cast that weeks of grueling rehearsal for such a limited performance were disappointing. In future the scope of dramatic productions could be extended to more ambitious plays of three and four acts, with a season of two or three nights.

—J.M.A.

SENIOR FRENCH EVENING

To celebrate the anniversary of the storming of the Bastille prison, the 5th and 6th Form French classes again held a French evening—this year on June 23rd, which was as close as we could be to July 14th, since examinations were being held in July.

When we gathered on the stage at 8 p.m. we found it looking somewhat more exotic than usual, with blue, white and red streamers and a magnificent mural of Paris scenes from dawn to dusk creating a "French" atmosphere.

During the evening we saw plays enacted by all forms—comedies, melodramas, a new Mairret, a French version of Emma Peel, and a Rutherford equivalent of Brigitte Bardot! The highlight of the evening's performances was a play "Jarjaille chez le bon Dieu" by Alphonse Daudet. The actors in this play (S. Collier, P. Johnstone, G. Patrick, and J. McCarthy) had already had the distinction of presenting this play before members of the Auckland French Club. The items concluded with a well-disguised 6A presenting "Americans in Paris". After the traditional fireworks display we adjourned to the cooking room which had a really festive air with its streamers, posters, displays and exciting looking supper. As well as the usual New Zealand specialties there were vast quantities of French loaves (kindly donated by Mrs Verbiessen), croissants and a variety of cheeses. Most people left clutching one or more long loaves and some croissants "so that we can have a French breakfast!"

The evening ended with a spirited rendering of "La Marseillaise" ably led by Mr Pryor. Our thanks go to Miss Cotton, Miss Blyth and Mr Pryor who wrote and produced items, and to the very hard working committee and artists.

Committee: Robert Small (Chairman), Sue Gotts, Ngaire Avery, Lynnette McCurdy, Lindsay Barr, Murray Earl, Pauline Ainsworth, Reggie Iotua, Sandra Osborne, Graeme Dunn.

Artists: Elizabeth Hillman, Judith Stacey.

FORM VI GEOGRAPHY STUDY TOUR, 1966

At six o'clock in the morning of May 4th a party of twenty-nine sleepy but excited pupils, four fussing staff members, and one cheerful bus driver set off for Wellington, and ultimately the South Island. After about half an hour of greetings and reorganising the packing of the bus, most settled down to finish their night's sleep.

This marked the beginning of three hectic but enjoyable weeks for the above thirty-four people. Card-playing was the chief interest for about the first four days, at the end of which we were ordered to watch the countryside and control our gambling instincts.

One member of the group resorted to piracy, trying to take over the running of the Aramoana, much to the first officer's alarm. For several seconds lights were flashing and bells ringing on the bridge.

At Motueka the party was shown through a tobacco factory and farm. Most people took samples of the raw tobacco leaves. The few who smoked it came to the conclusion that it lacked the finishing touches, while the still fewer who chewed it came to the same conclusion!

Which brings us to the subject of smoking. A certain woman teacher insisted on most of the windows of the bus being left open "to prevent people from getting sick". But we know that the real reason was that the bus didn't have a chimney—and with two pipes being smoked (by guess whom?) we really needed one.

At Motueka, where we had our first free day, we were given free run of the music room. All manner of instruments were played at random and with no harmony. Most people had headaches that night. We were (officially) allowed to sleep in the next morning—for the first time after mornings of rising at 5.30 and 6 a.m. But our blissful dreams were shattered at about 7 a.m. by boys banging drums and blowing trumpets—or rather trying to. Motueka also furthered the education of many boys—some learned how to wash clothes, but most learned how not to wash clothes.

At Westport we had a small incident that robbed the girls of some of their beauty sleep. Some local youths decided to keep the girls awake by throwing stones on to the roof. One woman staff member and two girls went out to scare them away, but were themselves scared when a rock landed close by. Fortunately some of the 1st XV were on the trip; they “fixed” the locals, and, knowing that they had such good guards, the girls could sleep again.

Thus far we had had reasonably large high schools to say in. Imagine our surprise at finding that Fox Primary, where we were to stay for two nights, had only three rooms, including a tiny kitchen-cum-sick-bay-cum-staff room. This was the scene of the crime—somebody “stole” one lady staff member’s electric blanket! However, after great commotion, the blanket was restored to its irate rightful owner.

Riding on a roofless bus, having rowing races, going to a “pub with no beer”, and going on training runs up 1,500 ft. to the Chalet just to buy a certificate constituted the highlights of our stay in Queenstown. One lady staff member also turned detective for a night.

Everyone eagerly went to a motor camp for showers the first night to find that a shower cost one shilling. For the remainder of the stay we had warm showers at the community hall—that is the first ones in had warm showers, the rest had cold ones.

By this time people were running short of spending money. Consequently there was quite a rise in the number of Queenstown phone calls and cables to West Auckland while the R.H.S. party was there.

When Lumsden was reached everyone was beginning to feel the strain, so apart from one bus driver losing one bed for a short time, and a snow fight on the way back from Milford, the party was reasonably subdued. However, water must have been expensive in that out-of-the-way town, for the water supply to the school was cut off twice. The dinner dishes duty group thought they had got off their duty that night, but the staff arranged for the water to be laid on again, at least until the dishes were done, so back traipsed the dish-doers.

The Fairlie break gave us a chance to do more washing, in which art the boys were becoming more adept. But some smart people who did their washing the night we arrived so as not to be in the general rush the next day, woke up to find their clothes literally “as stiff as boards” as a result of the 20 degree frost.

Two reputedly humorous films were seen on the trip—“The Pink Panther” and “John Goldfarb, Please Come Home”, but the superior intellect of the R.H.S. pupils showed in their non-appreciation of the pictures. Films, such as “Thunderball” were more on our level, but unfortunately were booked out.

While in Christchurch we were taken to the “Sign of the Kiwi” at the top of the Port Hills, to stand and freeze while looking at the haze covering Christchurch and the Canterbury Plains. We opined that the famous Avon was merely a small, shingly stream, but were suitably impressed by the Cathedral. Several people came close to having heart attacks while climbing the narrow, steep, one-way steps to the Cathedral spire, and there were many sore leg muscles the next day.

Up to this time we had had sunny, fine weather, but during the last few days of our tour the South Island showed us what it could do in the way of wind and rain. Several people were hoping that something thrilling like being stranded in the floods on the way from Blenheim to Picton, or the Aramoana sinking during the storm, would happen so as to end the trip on a high note, but all that happened was that we got drenched and many took on a greenish colour while crossing Cook Strait. However, it is to be noted that two R.H.S. girls were the only ones brave enough to eat cakes in the cafeteria during the crossing!

The last morning of rising en masse is dim in most people’s memories. After all, 3 a.m. is not the best time for taking photos and looking gay and cheerful. For once everyone gladly settled into his proper seating order, Harold inserted match-sticks between his eye-lids so that he could see the road, and we set off, most of us already asleep again.

At Ractihi we stopped for a breakfast of save-logs, but, as the latter proved to be slightly off-colour (like some of those on the bus) we breakfasted on sandwiches and weet-bix. The lunch stop was brief, everyone taking the risk of mass food-poisoning by buying pies. By the time we set off on the last leg everyone was waking up again, and several card games were played, our pent-up gambling instincts being released. But by the time we arrived at the school Harold was having trouble keeping his eyes open, thus reflecting the condition of most of us. We really needed a holiday to recuperate from our holiday, but I suppose we will all have recovered by the time the next trip is organised—which we would gladly go on.

Although our memories of the trip may fade, our photos will not. Right now there are probably negotiations going on to suppress some photos from general viewing, and some people will be making quite a bit of money out of the blackmailing business, and others will be going bankrupt from paying them.

Finally, the pupils on the trip would like to thank Mr Nicholas, Mr and Mrs Clark and Miss Rushbrook for the tremendous amount of work they put into organising and catering for this most enterprising expedition, and also our wonderfully cheerful driver, Mr Newton.

FORM VI DINNER

On Wednesday, July 27th, a sixth form dinner was held in an effort to introduce pupils to the etiquette involved in "dining out". In addition to the sixth form boys and men staff, a small group of senior girls attended to add elegance to the occasion. Two special guests were also present: Mr Coleman, personnel manager at John Court's, and Mr Fairgray, of the Bank of New Zealand, who spoke on standards of dress and appearance required by banks, business houses, and industry.

Considerable activity preceded the actual event. Mr Woods discussed the menu with all classes, Miss Corston, Miss Cotton, Mr Holman and Mr Moran talked about the intricacies of dining in high class restaurants and the boys prepared for the fashion parade. Meanwhile vast quantities of food were appearing in the cooking room, in preparation for the feeding of the hundred guests!

When 7 p.m. arrived, Room 6, lit by candles and with tables set ready with flower arrangements (Miss Rushbrook's hard work), seemed an excellent setting for the evening's activities. Large numbers of well dressed young men gathered to drink some gallons of fruit punch, and then dinner began with a choice of soup and hot rolls. For the main course, each guest could sample two of the four dishes provided. For many of us it was an introduction to Chicken Chow Mein, Sweet and Sour Pork, Spaghetti Bolognaise or Veal and Banana Casserole. There was an even wider range of desserts and the waitresses were kept busy with a constant stream of "orders".

At this stage the meal was adjourned and we were able to view the fashion parade, the most unusual outfit being Ed King's beer barrel which seemed to have some disadvantages from a practical point of view! Mr Coleman and Mr Fairgray commented on each "model" and then went on to discuss such questions as: what to wear to an interview, how to cope with nervousness, how to impress the interviewer.

A number of speeches followed, with Duncan McInnes thanking the guest speakers and Murray Sinton expressing thanks to Miss Cotton, Mrs Moorhead, Mrs Woods, and the sixth form girls who had worked hard to prepare, cook and serve the meal, to the staff who had arranged the evening (Miss Cotton, Miss Corston, Mr Moorhead and Mr Woods), and to Mr Clark who made the occasion possible.

The evening ended with the serving of coffee, biscuits and a cheese platter (Gruyere, Kominje, Camembert, Smoked Cheese, Colby and Gouda) and the well-fed guests made their way home at about 10.15 p.m.

The Library

This year has again seen many gaps filled on our shelves, especially in the reference room, where large numbers of books have been necessary to fill the study needs of the sixth form. The list of books still required, however, grows longer. The sixth form fiction section has also swelled, but the rest of the school has not been forgotten, and the general fiction and easy reading collections have grown considerably. Next year the sixth form fiction books will no longer be separated from the others, and it is hoped that this will encourage sixth formers to search for their reading among the many other excellent books in the library. Perhaps for prestige, or because they believe that they are getting more sophisticated reading, most seem to disdain to look elsewhere.

This year the disadvantages of the present library have become even more apparent. With several doors at each end, and two separate rooms, large crowds and small disturbing groups have been difficult to control at times. This could dissuade people from using the library as a place in which they can read, relax or study, in peace, at any time of the day. The isolation of the library probably discourages "browsers". Placed as it is, on the top floor of the block farthest removed from the school centre, the library cannot become the hub of the school that it should be. The day when a separate, central library building is built is eagerly awaited.

Nevertheless, the library is a popular place, and the scene of much hard work. The Library Committee has again put much effort into helping Mrs Parker, our Librarian, in ensuring the smooth running of the Library. They have worked on the desk, covered, catalogued and carded new books, while repairing old ones, tidying shelves, arranging attractive displays and doing all the menial chores. Some have been initiated in the craft of book binding: rebinding older books, and putting hard covers on paperbacks. An amazing amount of work has been done, although the work-room still retains the atmosphere of an exclusive club. This year we have made an extra effort in attracting third formers to complete the hierarchy. The library has continued operating its picture loan service and the English department's set books have never been so well looked after. Behind all this activity Mrs Parker has guided the work, as calm, knowledgeable and unruffled as ever. She has learnt the skill of being everywhere at once, knows where to find every book, and has amazing patience.

"VOX" — PUPILS' MAGAZINE

In 1965 a group of sixth formers attempted to publish a pupils' magazine, but because of the poor standard of printing and contents the magazine faded into obscurity. This year we have initiated a similar venture, and believe that we have been successful. Although only five issues have been published this year the magazine "Vox", has been accepted and respected. We do not, however, claim to have completed the work: we have established a tradition and laid the foundations. The results cannot be seen until later, and the responsibility now rests with the Editors who will take on the task in the future.

Our issues this year have been experimental. Our original precepts were set out in the first issue: "This new magazine is an attempt by pupils of this school to create an expressive medium, in which opinions dealing with the running of this school, and of the world, can be voiced, and in which original literature can be printed." We aimed our sights at the sixth form, but the sixth form were unresponsive. Instead, the greatest interest came from the third and fourth forms. As a result the number of letters to the editor, and original contributions has been small, and the lack of staff to run the enterprise has affected our ability to provide a topical publication. Those directly concerned with "Vox" have been Tony Hunt, the editor, and Jurgen McCarthy and Judith Stacey, sub-editors. We would also like to express our appreciation for the assistance given by Mrs Miller and the Commercial girls, who assisted us with the typing and duplicating.

We have discovered that a magazine such as "Vox" required a larger number of pupils to run it, since it is necessary to publish regularly. It must be impartial, report objectively on school affairs, and include a wide range of articles, short stories and poetry to appeal to readers throughout the school. These are the principles that we have tried to follow this year in establishing "Vox" and we hope that next year those who take on this interesting task will continue to build on these foundations.

THE GOAT SONG

The projectile paused for a second, hanging on the lip of the mortar, then whined across the valley tracing a misty parabola. It exploded deep in the bush exciting the monkeys to harsh grunts, and the flies into humming circles. These sounds were reflected to the men on Hill 9 as a low mutter. Douang Ha was the target—another position to be bombed, assaulted and burned. The men moved on.

Douang Ha was twenty miles from Saigon on the Camchaoum Road, nestling on the ridges of the Mekong Valley. In the bamboo thickets bordering the river a boy stood, his fingers tracing the river's course, meandering in a slow rhythm to the sea. Great, powerful and anonymous it wandered, robbed of purpose, as a Prometheus chained to the mountains. The boy scuffed the sand with his feet and listened to the steady chopping of the hoes in the soil, above which rose the prayers of the women, rising and falling like the wind in the bamboo tops. Incantations to the river and its children, to the soil and to fertility groaned in faithful devotion. The boy grew sad and felt as if he were an alien recording the first faltering steps of a civilization that would meander to sublimity, from thence to war and finally to decay. It was a wistful dream that he alone could endure aeons of summer heat, rice festivals, burials and the cool cold winter rain lying fresh and blue in the ditches. He shuddered in wonder at the infinite scene—it was like a temple door ornate with concentric rings of smiling Buddhas, vast in its entirety.

The boy now turned, climbed a bank feeling for footholds in the soft warm sand, and finally fell headlong into the spiny grass at the top. He lay panting, watching the sun fall amongst the hills like an assassin amongst his conspirators. The toucans croaked malevolently and the temple bells whispered. The smoke from the huts, warm with the odour of burnt wood, spiralled into the air drawing the boy home.

MY MOST EMBARRASSING EXPERIENCE

"Oh, no! Here she comes," warned my friend, dragging me to one side. We quickened our steps and turned around towards Block Four. Rounding the corner I glanced back to see her determinedly following. We lost her, and then found her walking twenty yards in front, turning around every two or three steps. It was no good. She doggedly kept us within sight or soon found us. We sat in a corner of Block One and soon she went past. She saw us and had no sooner walked around the corner than she turned around and with head down walked past us again. Soon she was back, walking quickly past, staring straight ahead, interrupted by a glance at me. She walked with a group of girls pretending to be of the same company and changed from group to group to aid her careful scrutiny of me. I was at a loss to know what to do. She soon found me sitting in a quiet spot at the other end of the school.

"Following me?" I pointedly enquired.

"No. Weeell, yeth," was the mispronounced and quiet reply.

I rose and walked slowly around the school with Phillip, very deep in thought. I suddenly stopped and looked around, to see P. suddenly turn and walk away, not seeming to have seen me. P. is a very quiet, plump, ill-featured girl. I reflected, with a below-average intelligence, a very bad lisp and a slow-working mind. She had seen some girls having boy-friends and wanted one for herself. Her methods of "grabbing" me were far from conventional. I felt sorry for her and recognised P.'s need for help and friendship for she was rejected by all the other girls, but this behaviour could not continue. My friends had already made a joke about it and teased me endlessly. I decided to ignore her for the present and talk things over in private some time.

I tried to forget that she existed and always looked the other way to stop her habit of saying "hello" to me twenty-four times each day. In fact I treated her rather severely that day, and at the end of the following day I received several messages from my friends asking me if I liked her—sent by P. of course. I replied that she had to ask me herself.

"Look, P." I explained. "I liked you much better when you didn't follow me everywhere." The following day all my friends came to me to say P. had told them I liked her, and she seemed bubbling over with excitement.

"Look, P." I chided, "you misunderstood me yesterday. I didn't want to say it as bluntly as this, but because you told everyone what I said to you I am forced to explain. I like you but I certainly do not want you to be my girl-friend."

I am still trying to stifle the rumours that started from my first interview, and have lost all opportunities to help P. for the present, so my advice to other 4th form boys is:

Be brutally frank with girls, and that will save you many an embarrassing experience.

BITTERSWEET

O God! that I should be born into an age of reason

when men's minds have been reduced to equations

by glib, dream spouting, thought-twisting stealers of souls;

when the quintessence, the ultimate peak of what we call—

O so vainly—progress is a mindless monstrous machination of death and destruction:

key to oblivion, self-extermination, suicide.

When man holds the fabled power of God?

What hope lies in turning to ancient rituals of supposed faiths which themselves are darkened by hypocrisy?

And to retain hope in human goodness

the brotherhood of man, idealistic notions on

seems merely ludicrous now . . .

what else is left but self-pity and bitter cynicism?

Yet there is a place I know where the river speaks to me of the mountain

as it dances over the shifting sun-shimmering shingle

and the winds make love with the sky stretching trees and I can forget for a time the despairing disillusion which is waiting in the dark out there.

FIREWORKS

Always, as if for the first time, we watch

The fireworks as if no one had ever

Done this before, made shapes, signs,

Cut diamonds on air, sent up stars

Nameless, imperious. And in the falling

Of fire, the spent rocket, there is a kind

Of nostalgia that normally only attaches

To things long known and lost.

Such emptiness of sky the fireworks leave

After their festival. We, fumbling

For words of love, remember the rockets,

The spinning wheels, the sudden diamonds

And say with delight "Yes, like that, like that."

Oh, and the air is full of falling stars

Surrendered. We search for a sign.

THE GALE

It was a wild day, with a burning sun and flying cirrus clouds that chased across a hard blue sky. A maelstrom of white water raged past the entrance to the little land-locked harbour in which we were anchored. Even in the anchorage, surrounded by steep hills, the wind came in breath-taking gusts that set the halyards snapping petulantly against the mast and the boat surging nervously sideways to fetch up with a sickening jolt against the anchor warp.

We, the crew, were resigned to being storm-bound. The skipper decided that we ought to cross the three miles of open water to a bay from which we could telephone home.

Putting a reef in the mainsail was interesting, with the wind lifting all three hundred odd square feet of canvas and setting it flogging uncontrollably about the ears of the crew.

Getting out of the bay was comparatively easy, but once outside the heads the yacht began to go like an express train, heeling till the lacy foam sang past the cockpit. Ploughing into a heavy sea, she plunged her bowsprit into each oncoming wave, flinging spray everywhere and wetting the tautly curving sails to the cross-trees.

The most exciting part of the sail was yet to come. About a mile from our destination, we had to turn and run down the coast with a following wind and sea. It had begun to get dark just as we left Matiatia Heads, and by that time it was completely dark, with Moto Tapu looming up ahead as a wavering, blacker line against the charcoal sky. Everywhere was the noise of the wind and sea, the whine of the rigging, the slap of the halyards and the hissing roar as the great phosphorescent-green capped waves raged out of the dark.

The boat herself was heaving on her beam-ends, driving her bowsprit into the previous wave before freeing it with a little jerk. As it came free, she would lift her bows towards the sky and surge forward on the crest and back of the waves, surfing along like a skittish sailing dinghy rather than a matronly twenty-two footer of solid kauri, heavily ballasted.

Exhilaration at such times is always tinged with anxiety. One weak cringle and the whole of the straining mainsail could be reduced to whiplash ribbons in seconds. Clambering round a wet, slippery deck at the mercy of breaking seas and a thirty-five knot breeze is not even a yachting's idea of fun.

Suddenly it was all over. Under the lee of the hills, we were becalmed. We ghosted along under tiny catspaws that momentarily ruffled the inky water, trying to gauge the distance of the shore from the configurations of the shadowy hills now outlined against a sky bright with pale stars that shimmered with the brittle silver and gold of a windy night.

The only reminder of the gale outside was the heavy clumsiness of the salt-stiffened canvas as we furled the sails, and the dry salt congealed on the creases of our faces.

The rattle of the anchor chain against the bobstay rang across the velvet stillness of the bay before the hills brooding around the horizon once more enveloped us in a silence broken only by the splash of some jumping fish or the sleepy chirp of a cicada among the trees overhanging the water.

LAMENT IN A COUNTRY RAILYARD

It was dawn. The railyard was sleeping under a sheen of pink light. The candy-floss light seeped into every crack in the sheds; glistening on every track, on every locomotive—yet failed to wake anything.

No one stirred.

The rays of coloured light leaped, frustrated, on to the roofs, butted against buildings and knocked mischievously on the windows. But daylight could wait no longer. Streaks of blue, trailing wispy white clouds, began to appear.

Below, the black of buildings stood out more clearly. They were shabby, grimy little shacks, looking like oven-sized chunks of coal sprawled alongside ribbons of rail. As the sky grew lighter and lighter, the yard came to life. Some mangy dogs sniffed through the garbage beside a signal box. Then, finding nothing of interest but strewn tea-leaves, beer bottles and cabbage stalks, they scampered off to annoy the livestock.

The complaining voices of sheep and cattle chorused through the yard, doors slammed open, men appeared dressed in pyjamas, and a barrage of stones sent the dogs scurrying. Soon, yawning men, unshaven but dressed, left their shacks to tend the locomotives.

The chuffing and shunting sounds of many engines soon filled the air. Steam hissed violently out over the yard; pistons clanked in rhythmical bursts; wheels drummed against steel; metal clanged against metal; pistons against wheel, wheel against track, faster, faster, on and on, on and on.

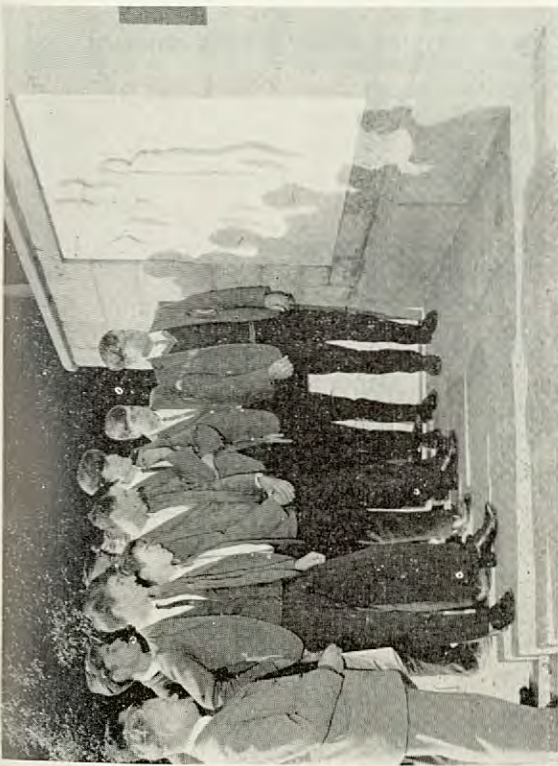

The townspeople went past without sparing the yards a glance. The housewife hurried past with a flurry of scarf, skirt and slippers; the young boy sauntered along, hands in pockets, smoking a cigarette, while kicking stones with pointed shoes. The smartly-dressed town accountant strode by, too busy looking at his watch to pay much attention to the frantic sounds of engines.

Only the fascinated school boy loitered until the sounds of the school bell warned him that he was late and sent him dashing pell-mell over the tracks. But he would return when school finished. With his friends, he would watch the trains until the returning of the grey twilight would remind everyone that another day was nearly over.

People would rush home past the yards in the deepening darkness, dodging every shadow. The yard-workers would put away their engines, call their dogs, and stamp back to their lighted little shacks.

SPORTS

This year has been one of successful participation in the full range of School Sports.

Basketball and Soccer competed successfully in the A Grade competition; Rugby was second in the B Grade; the Swimming team swam its way into the B Grade for next year, and Cricket could be said to suffer the consequences of almost completely dominating the C Grade. The Boys' Athletics team also performed well with the Senior Relay team in particular being well up to Auckland standards.

Sports in the School seems to be in good heart, although some pupils make life very difficult for various teams by changing their minds about playing after teams have been entered for competitions. Any person who joins a team has the right to expect a reasonable season's play (provided he has co-operated in the team's activities), but he must shoulder the responsibility of attending regular practices and of playing for the full season.

This year will see the end of many players' long association with School teams. Several members of the 1st XV and 1st XI, for example, have played for four, five, or six years in the Senior teams with up to seventy games against other schools to their credit. Congratulations must go to two pupils in particular who gained their Colours in three sports: T. Moorhead, as Captain of the 1st XI and a member of the Athletic team, and G. Stainton, who was also in these teams. This distinction is not easily gained.

This year also sees the departure of some of our most helpful coaches—Mr Pryor, who has taken Rugby and Tennis on Saturdays for five years; Miss Cotton, who has been a tower of strength in Basketball, Tennis, and Athletics; Mr Nairn, whose flashing bat is a delight to watch at cricket practice; Mr Johnston, who coaches by example on the Rugby field; and Mr Allan, whose enthusiasm and sotto voce coaching in both Rugby and Athletics has been the despair of the opposition. These people will be badly missed and our thanks and best wishes go with them.

The opening of the swimming pool will give an added fillip to the sport. It is hoped that its usefulness to the district will soon be extended by the addition of changing-rooms.

The Sports Picnic was one of the highlights of the '65 year and the Principal has generously continued the privilege this year.

Finally, I would wish my successor, Mr Cumming, as Sports Master, as much help as I had from a great group of sportsmen and women, whom I thank very much for services rendered over the last six years.

BOYS INTER-SECONDARY SWIMMING SPORTS

On Friday, 4th March, Rutherford High School competed with a strong team in the Inter-Secondary School Swimming Championships, "C" Grade Section.

Two competitors representing the school, G. Wood and L. Herring, gained five first places between them and it was largely through their efforts that the team as a whole finished in first place on points, thus gaining promotion to the "B" Grade next year.

Individual winners were:

Senior: G. Wood, 110 yds. Freestyle, 55 yds. Freestyle.

Intermediate: S. Young, 55 yds. Backstroke.

Junior: L. Herring, 110 yds. Freestyle, 55 yds. Freestyle, 55 yds. Backstroke.

The following were members of the team:

Senior: G. Wood, R. Hendry, A. Mathews, G. Rose, T. Paton, B. Strid.

Intermediate: S. Young, L. Sinton, M. Gladwin, G. Croft, R. West.

Junior: L. Herring, J. Carruthers, P. Wright, C. McConnochie, B. Gibbons.

GIRLS INTER-SECONDARY SWIMMING SPORTS

The final result of the Girls' Inter-secondary Swimming Sports was definitely not in favour of Rutherford High School, our final placing being 16th.

Rutherford gained a number of places in the heat events, but not all qualified for the finals, and those that did unfortunately did not do well. The lack of good results was not due to the absence of enthusiasm on the part of the competitors, but because we had no pool for training. With the completion of our pool we hope that the swimming standard at Rutherford will have improved by 1967.

The following were members of the team that participated in the Inter-secondary Swimming Sports, 1966: Robyn Hutchinson, Jennifer Dorsett, Margaret Tyler, Jan Barnett, Marilyn Booth, Faye Rose, Linda Rountree, Elizabeth Wood, Rayna Beaton, Karen Beaton, Margaret Sinclair, Jenny Short, Annette Daniels, Judith Simpson, Beverley Lindergreen.

Swimming Colours, 1966: Faye Rose.

ATHLETICS

SIXTH ANNUAL ATHLETIC SPORTS

The School Athletic Sports were held on our own grounds on Wednesday, 9th March. There were large fields in all events and the day was the most successful yet. This was due, in part, to the co-operation of the staff in all phases of the day's activities. Our thanks go also to a parent, Mr Milham, who acted as starter for us, and without whom the continuity of the sports may well have lapsed. A notable feature of the day was the large number of records broken. A number of new events were contested and proved popular, i.e., Junior Mile, Junior and Intermediate Triple Jump, Junior, Intermediate and Senior Milk Walk. The new system of handicapping also proved its worth. Congratulations to the following Athletic Champions:

BOYS' INTER-SECONDARY ATHLETIC MEETING

The Western Zone finals were held at Mt. Roskill Grammar School on the 19th of March. There were eight schools competing and we did very well to gain second place equal with Mt. Roskill Grammar School, achieving a total of 108 points—only 5 points behind the winning school, Kelston Boys' High School. We fielded our strongest team ever, and the results indicate that there could be better things to come yet. This is quite a remarkable performance for such a young school. Thanks are due to Mr Moran, Mr Cumming, and Mr Allan for the hours of hard work they have put into the team, both in coaching and administration.

The team was—Junior: P. G. Kennedy, P. Duke, T. Dwyer, I. Carbines, R. Oxenham, C. Atchison, R. Shepherd, C. Campbell, A. Mossong, M. Lyons, W. Thompson, E. Charlton, P. R. Kennedy. Intermediate: D. Laird, S. Jenkins, A. Donaldson, J. Pringle, T. Duggan,

The Bryant Memorial Meeting was held at Pukekohe on the 26th of March, 1966. We were represented by a small but strong team who performed with credit against strong competition.

Our only placings were gained by A. Donaldson who is becoming a force to be reckoned with in the Intermediate grade.

GIRLS' INTER-SECONDARY ATHLETIC SPORTS, 1966

Field event preliminaries were held prior to the main meeting this year, Rutherford competing in the northern zone at Avondale College. The first two place-getters from each of the four zones and those who put up the next eight best performances qualified for the finals.

Rutherford qualified in the following field events and was eligible as a finalist:

Junior: Long Jump—Louise Pook. Shot Put—Margaret Sinclair.

Intermediate: High Jump—Judy McIntosh. Long Jump—Judy McIntosh.

Senior: High Jump—Yvonne Willering. Shot Put—Heather Pook. Discus—Heather Pook.

The main part of the Inter-secondary Athletic meeting was held at Eden Park and although only a small proportion of the team reached final events, a greater proportion did manage to qualify as semi-finalists.

STEEPLECHASE CHAMPIONSHIPS, 1966

On 13th September the 2nd annual championships were held. Fine weather and a good hard track, to which a number of improvements had been made, promoted excellent racing. Once again, large fields were a pleasing feature of the championships.

Although Senior times were generally slower than last years, Junior and Intermediate times were vastly improved, which is promising for future contests.

Our thanks go to Mr Allan and his officials for the efficient running of the events.

Results:

Junior: G. Shanaghan (5m. 46s.), Williams, 1; K. Morris (6m. 0.5s.), Lovelock, 2; C. Atcheson (6m. 14s.), Williams, 3; G. Cater (6m. 18s.), Batten, 4.

INTER-SECONDARY STEEPLECHASE CHAMPIONSHIPS, 1966

These were again held at St. Kentigern College on October 1st. The weather and track were excellent. About fourteen schools competed in the B Grade, with about 80 competitors in each race. Rutherford recorded its best performances to date, particularly in the Junior section. This could be a promising omen for future years. Thanks are due to Mr Allan for his management of the team.

INTER-SECONDARY RELAY CHAMPIONSHIPS, 1966

The "C" Grade Championships were held on Saturday, 15th October, at Kelston Boys' High School, after being transferred at the last minute from Sacred Heart College.

Once again the demands on boys from other sports forced us to field a team below our best, but our competitors acquitted themselves well in all events.

One hazard in this type of meeting, especially with small schools, is the overloading of boys with events. This was the case with the Rutherford team. Some of the boys had literally "run themselves into the ground" by the end of the day.

Thanks are due to Mr Allan and Mr Moran for the work they put into the preparation of the team, and to the many parents who supplied transport and encouragement to the athletes.

Results:

1st place in Junior Shot Put, Intermediate 4 x 110 yds., Intermediate 4 x 220 yds., Intermediate 4 x 440 yds., Intermediate Shot Put, Senior 3 x 120 Hurdles; 2nd place in Intermediate Medley, Senior 4 x 110 yds., Senior 4 x 220 yds., Senior Shot Put. Eleven third placings were also gained.

Points: Junior 3rd with 45; Intermediate 2nd with 49; Senior 3rd with 54.

Overall total points: Marcellin College, 171, 1st; Kelston Boys' High School, 154, 2nd; Rutherford High School, 148, 3rd.

Competitors were—Junior: C. Atcheson, C. Campbell, I. Carbines, G. Cater, E. Charlton, S. Donaldson, T. Dwyer, P. Kennedy, M. Martin, K. Morris, A. Mossong, A. Motley, R. Oxenham, C. Paton, R. Shepherd, A. Trevethick.

RUGBY

FIRST XV

As a result of winning the 1C competition last year, the 1st XV was promoted to the 1B Grade where stern opposition was encountered throughout the season. The team exceeded most expectations to secure runner-up position, two points behind Westlake High School.

All round experience proved a major factor in the team's success. Many of the team were experiencing their fourth year together in the same team and therefore the problem of combination was not encountered. This experience is borne out by the fact that by the end of the season games played were: I. D. Milne (63), M. P. Sinton (63), T. J. Moorhead (62), C. J. Homer (54), M. F. Shepherd (54), R. W. Small (47), G. J. Wood (45), and T. Swallow (43).

The team style evolved around a pack of extremely mobile forwards which was able to supply ample possession to the backs who often fulfilled their scoring potential. Indeed, of the 40 tries scored overall, the backs secured 32 of them. M. F. Shepherd, an outstanding goal-kicker, was invaluable to the team, proving a match-winner on many occasions. His tally of 98 points this season boosted his total for the past three seasons to 204. B. T. Milham (8) and G. J. Wood (7), the regular wingers, scored the most tries.

Top form was attained in the second half of the season against Lytton High School and St. Peter's Maori Boys' College; but then followed an unfortunate period when injuries to key players caused a temporary loss of form against Kaipara College and Mt. Roskill Grammar. Then the team regained its form and confidence to continue unbeaten for the remainder of the season in inter-school matches.

This year saw the first exchange with Lytton High School, Gisborne. A convincing 18-3 victory resulted after the team had survived many anxious moments in the first half when their performance was very lethargic. The annual Dargaville fixture saw our most convincing win of the season, 28-8.

The season's highlight was the Barbarians match. Included in this side were players of international and provincial ranking such as Wilson Whineray, Paul Little, Des Connor, "Snow" White, Bob Graham and Albert Pryor. The high score of 26-17 to the Barbarians emphasised the open nature of the game. All team members were grateful to the opposition for their instructive tips and advice which were given freely during various stoppages throughout the match.

Sinton, Shepherd and Moorhead participated in the Auckland Secondary School Trials, with the former two proceeding to the final trial.

The team expresses its thanks to Mr Nicholas to whom it is indebted for his dedicated attitude towards his players. Special thanks are also forwarded to the energetic girls who prepared afternoon tea each Saturday.

Record: Avondale College, lost 5-27; Mt. Albert Grammar, lost 11-21; King's College 2nd XV, won 14-6; Henderson High School, won 19-0; Westlake High School, lost 3-8; Penrose High School, won 9-8; Lytton High School, won 18-3; St. Peter's Maori College, won 29-16; Kaipara College, lost 14-17; Mt. Roskill Grammar, lost 6-19; St. Peter's College, won 13-3; Selwyn College, won 14-11; Penrose High School, won 6-3; Northcote College, drew 9-9; Barbarians, lost 17-26; Papakura High School, won 14-8; Dargaville High School, won 28-8.

Played 17, won 10, lost 6, drew 1.

Points for, 223; points against, 193.

2nd GRADE

Although we had numerous defeats, the team thoroughly enjoyed the season and retained an excellent team spirit. We would like to thank our coach, Mr Cumming, who worked valiantly to mould the team into a successful unit.

3rd GRADE

With suitable numbers of boys available the school was able to enter two teams in this grade. The teams were placed into the 3A and 3B competition according to the supposed ability of each player.

The 3A competition is often recognised as perhaps the sternest grade in secondary schools' Rugby. This year's team generally succumbed to schools who were able to choose from a wider range of players and thus establish a more skilful team. Although we were outplayed by Auckland Grammar and Mt. Albert Grammar we were never overwhelmed and were able to hold our own with Kelston and Mt. Roskill, although unable to force a win. The forwards of the team were often impressive but were not supported to the full by the backs who often showed indecisiveness in their play. Outstanding players promoted to the 1st XV during the season were R. Jones and R. Black.

The team expresses its thanks to Mr Moran whose coaching and advice was of a high standard.

The team was: B. Morris (Captain), G. Patrick (Vice-Captain), R. Black, C. Brownlee, E. Charlton, F. Cooney, R. Eyre, A. Harvey, G. Harvey, M. Jones, R. Jones, N. Morris, R. Muller, B. Murdoch, J. Nixon, D. Poole, G. Stainton.

The 3D team had a mixed year, playing both good and bad football. Our strength lay in our fast backline who always looked dangerous when they received the ball.

The overall performance improved throughout the season and the team's best wins were in the later games. Thanks go to our coach, Mr Allan, and the parents who assisted with transport.

Results: Won 7 games, lost 6 games.

The team: T. Stacey (Captain), C. Mold (Vice-Captain), N. Blaikie, D. Bruce, J. Clayton, G. Cosgrave, R. Delgrosso, G. Dodd, B. Fawcner, G. Fisher, N. Kerridge, F. Manifold, D. McBirney, N. Polkinghorne, B. Stewart, D. Weenink, J. Wood, R. Woods.

FOURTH GRADE

Because of the great response in 4th Grade Rugby, the School was able to produce two teams for the competition. The 4A team lost heavily in the early stages of the competition, but good Rugby was played and the games were thoroughly enjoyed. Through Mr Johnston's guidance and experience the team developed stamina and tactics, securing victory on four occasions. Among those who played well were Kennedy at 2nd five-eighth, and Marriott at loose forward, who obtained five tries each. The team expresses its appreciation to Mr Johnston who gave up so much of his valuable time to advise and encourage us.

The 4C team had a disappointing season, losing most of its games. The main difficulty was in learning to work as a team, but most players enjoyed their season's Rugby nevertheless. The main points came from P. Barrie, who scored four tries and G. Croft who kicked three penalties. We would like to thank our coach, Mr Pryor, for the effort he put into coaching us.

Games played 12, won 2, lost 10, won 1 by default.

Points for 41, against 155.

Team: K. Phyn (Captain), J. Arrowsmith, P. Barrie, G. Collier, S. Collier, K. Cox, G. Croft, P. Davis, M. Grubb, P. Hay, S. Henderson, M. Hewer, S. Hanson, W. Jones, G. Krissansen, R. Lawrence, K. Murray, D. Poole, G. Richards, N. Roberts, G. Turner, A. Strid.

FIFTH GRADE

Our 5B team experienced a very mixed season. Most of the early games of the season were lost, but in the latter half when the team settled down the tables were generally turned. The team suffered two heavy defeats by Avondale College, but most of the games were close and interesting. Our thanks go to our coach, Mr Berridge, and also to the parents who assisted most nobly with encouragement and transport.

The team was: R. Oxenham (Captain), G. Stacey and M. Wilkinson (co-Vice-Captains), P. Beautrais, G. Elmbranch, G. Hays, P. Judd, W. Levis, W. Mays, B. Mossong, R. Page, R. Rennell, G. Richards, G. Shanaghan, M. Small, J. Verbieson, S. Woodward, I. Wright.

Games played 14, won 8, lost 6.
Points for 157, against 130.

SIXTH GRADE

In the A Grade our team had fluctuating fortunes. Half of the competition games were very closely contested, while in the remainder, the team was outclassed by strong opposition. Credit must go to the team for the determined manner which was displayed in all games in spite of the more polished opposition sometimes encountered.

The team's thanks go to Mr Moorhead and to those parents who provided transport and took a keen interest in the team's endeavours.

Played 12 games, won 2, lost 10.

Points for 34, against 153.

Team: J. Turnbull (Captain), J. Carruthers (Vice-Captain), F. Body, T. Dwyer, D. Gaughan, G. Glogoski, J. Harvey, C. Holliday, S. Hamilton, C. McConnochie, J. MacVicar, G. Mahon, S. Mason, V. Neilsen, C. Paton, P. Trengrove.

In the C Grade after a faltering start the team went on to win its zone. In the Championship round that followed it gained third place after some gruelling games. There were two highlights of the season. First, the hard fought win against Onehunga High School, which made us the zone winners and in which the necessary points were gained in the final few minutes; and second, our coach Mr Woods' dramatic arrival on the field (after play had started against Otahuhu College) to abuse the referee for starting early when his team was incomplete. The team would like to thank the coach, Mr Woods, and the parents who helped with transport.

Team: D. Jenkin (Captain), M. Astwood, N. Cummings, S. Dwyer, K. Fawkner, P. Fernandez, G. Hahn, N. Hahn, A. Moore, K. Oliver, K. Purdy, P. Robinson, B. Rogers, K. Sawyer, G. Slatter, I. Stewart, J. Strid, A. Trevethick.

BASKETBALL

TEAM ONE

Being placed in the A Grade again this year, the A team needed its enthusiastic coach, Miss Richards. With her coaching we completed a successful season, progressing most in mid-season.

This year we were pleased at being the first School basketball team to travel to Gisborne where we found the competition strong but managed a 20-19 victory. We defeated the visiting Kaipara team, and the visiting Dargaville team 24-23.

We would like to thank Miss Richards and Miss Corston for coaching us, and everyone for the hearty encouragement we received from the sidelines.

Results: Played 10, won 6, lost 4.

Team: Heather Pook (Captain), Yvonne Wilfling (Vice-Captain), Nieske Blaauwbroek, Elizabeth Bower, Lynn Brownlees, Raewyn Jerebine, Gail Yelavich.

TEAM TWO

As a result of our effort on grading day we were placed in the B Grade where we found the competition very keen.

Early in the season we were visited by Kaipara College and although we played well we lost to them 21—20.

The highlight of the season was the trip to Gisborne where we played one of our better games and defeated Lytton High School 16—14.

Our thanks go to Miss Richards who coached us and encouraged us at every game.

Team: Marilyn Stewart (Captain), Gav Roiall, Joy Taylor, Henny Verbiesen, Avis Delgrosso, Dawn Porter, Karen Beaton, Heather Hendry.

TEAM THREE

As a result of games played on grading day we were placed in the D Grade. Good team spirit was shown by all members throughout the season and we were sorry to lose two of our most able members, Jenny Short (goal attack) and Leone Stubbing, our very able goal defence. We suffered a narrow defeat in our game against a visiting team from Kaipara College, who won 15—14. Our thanks must go to Mrs Baker for her time and energy in coaching us.

Results: Games played 11, won 10, lost 1.

Team: Margaret Wilson (Captain), Rayna Beaton, Elaine Brannigan, Sue Peden, Judith Simpson, Leone Stubbing, Patricia Weenik.

TEAM FOUR

Owing to a wonderful team spirit and to Miss Cotton, our coach, our team had a very successful season, playing in the C Grade. We lost only one game to the Kelston A team (9—8), drew 11—11 with Queen Victoria, and won all our other games. The competitive spirit of all the girls in our team and the teams we played made all the games close and exciting and strenuous. Our thanks go to Miss Cotton for coaching us during the last two years and we all wish her every happiness in her forthcoming marriage.

Team: T. Patrick (Captain), J. Barnett (Vice-Captain), M. Barr, J. Haven, B. Lindgreen, J. Stuart, G. Wineti.

TEAM FIVE

No. 5 team had an enjoyable season although not one with many wins. Our thanks go to Mrs Baker who has put much time and effort into coaching us and to the parents who supervised us to and from Windmill Road on the basketball bus.

Team: Karen Hav (Captain), Sue White (Vice-Captain), Marilyn Booth, Alison Clark, Janice Hayter, Heather Hendry (reserve), Lynette Rhodes, Yvonne Scown.

Team: Julie Nicholls (Captain), Robyn Anderson, Helen Murdoch, Carole O'Connell, Jul-leen O'Leary, Lorraine Saunders, Valerie Winchester.

TEAM SEVEN

At the beginning of the season more games were lost than won, but the team showed a great improvement as time went on. Towards the end of the season we were winning most games played and showing greater speed and skill in passing.

We would like to thank our coach, Mrs McSporrán, for giving up her time to watch our games at Windmill Road and thus cheer us on.

Results: Games played 12, won 6, lost 5, drew 1.

Team: Frances Gill (Captain), Margaret Homer (Vice-Captain), Rita Cumber, Carol Lawrence, Merrill Davis, Jennifer Dorset, Linda Nielson.

TEAM NINE

The 1966 basketball season gave our team an opportunity to show its qualities of sportsmanship and goodwill as we suffered a number of defeats. We would like to thank our coach, Mrs McSporrán, for offering her encouragement each Saturday.

Results: Games played 14, won 7, lost 4, drew 2.

Team: Jane Triggs, Deborah Barker (Vice-Captain), Jennifer Bolt, Sue Willims, Anne

SOCCER

1966 can be regarded as the year in which Rutherford "arrived" on the soccer scene. Six teams were entered for the inter-school competition, one in every grade from Senior A to Junior B. These teams met with mixed success, but congratulations must go to the Senior A team who played so well in the top competition and to the Junior B team who did not lose a match. We also wish to congratulate C. Flack, who gained selection into the Auckland "Under 18" team, D. Taylor and A. Donaldson, who were chosen for the Auckland "Under 16" team, and C. Campbell who played for the Auckland "Under 14" team.

We wish to thank the groundsman, Mr Smith, for his splendid preparation of the field and for the goal nets. Our thanks also go to those parents who supported the teams and supplied transport, and to the staff members who so freely gave their time to coaching the teams.

SENIOR A TEAM

The 1st XI this year, playing in the Senior A Division of the secondary schools' competition, managed 4th placing.

The team played constructive football with the highlight of the season being the game against Takapuna on College Day at Newmarket

1st SOCCER XI

Park. The team won this game rather convincingly 7-1. Outstanding players were Donaldson (4 goals), Pindur (3 goals), Cattin, and Flack in goal.

The trip to Gisborne was enjoyed by all who went. In the game Rutherford took an early two goal lead, relaxed for a while then again applied the pressure, winning the game 4-1. Flack and Tregidga both played well.

Finally, the best game of the season was against Mt. Albert who had never been beaten by Rutherford. Cattin, Donaldson, Rutledge and Taylor played well, with Donaldson and Taylor scoring a goal apiece, enabling us to run out the victors 2-1.

The thanks of the team go to the coach, Mr Hathaway, and to those parents who helped out with transport.

Results (including the game against Lytton High):

Played 15, won 7, lost 7, drew 1.

Goals: For 36, against 40.

Goal scorers: A. Donaldson 14, Taylor 10, Pindur 6, Barlow 4, Lim 1.

SENIOR B TEAM

The Senior B team found itself in a very even competition where every match was closely contested. The average match was tough but with none of the arguing and poor sportsmanship that is emerging in some of the grades. At the end of the season the team visited Dargaville High School and was narrowly beaten by 3 goals to 2.

Results were: Played 9 games, won 2, drew 2, lost 5.

Goals for 23, goals against 25.

The team was: T. Packer (Captain), G. Franks

(Vice-Captain), R. Bawden, G. Boyne, G. Brown, K. Bradford, R. Davis, G. Dunn, M. Hendry, K. Lang, S. Neil, T. Pama, B. Williams.

INTERMEDIATE A

Our team had an enjoyable season's soccer despite the lack of real success. All the team have tried hard during the season to put the team higher on the ladder, but we were successful only towards the end of the season. The team's thanks go to our coach, Mr Harold, for the help throughout the season, and also to Mr Bendall and Mr Joass for the transport they provided.

Results: Games won 4, lost 6, drew 1.

Goals for 22, against 23.

JUNIOR A TEAM

This was the first season that the School had a team in this grade, and the lack of experienced 4th form players was evident. We would like to thank our coach, Mr Davies, for his time and energy in coaching us.

Of eight games played the team won three.

Team: B. Munns (Captain), L. Bell (Vice-Captain), B. Nixon, N. Dawson, P. Kennedy, H. Rapana, P. Heald, C. Atchison, G. Reid, V. Milina, M. Tregidga, G. Parker.

JUNIOR B TEAM

Results: Played 9 games, won 9.

Goals: For 49, against 5.

Team: R. Melville (Captain), S. G. Reed (Vice-Captain), R. Bennett, K. Bentley, M. Brumfit, R. Dutch, G. Fife, M. Kamphorst, I. MacLeod, D. Savage, B. Williams, C. Williams, P. Young.

HOCKEY

BOYS' 1st XI

With virtually the same team as last year the 1st XI, playing in the 2B Open Grade section, improved upon last year's performance to eventually finish third in the competition.

With greater age and experience and an emphasis on fitness and practice, the team played especially well to earn its place in the competition.

Our best game was, without a doubt, against Northcote when the team showed the best passing, circle attack, solid defence and teamwork of any match of the season. This resulted in a classic 17-0 win.

This year's team, which can at last be called the 1st Hockey XI, owes its thanks to the work of the coach, Mr Sinclair, and the parents who helped make a success of the 1966 season.

Highlight of the season was undoubtedly the trip to Dargaville. This, the second trip away by the school hockey team, was thoroughly enjoyed by all concerned. Playing on a very slippery field our team recorded its first-ever win over Dargaville with a score of 3-0.

Team: S. Milne (Captain), D. Affleck, K.

Charlton, L. Hanlon, D. Moody, P. Mossong, C. Parr, D. Shepherd, P. Shepherd, L. Sibley, A. Simpson, R. White.

Summary of results: Games played 10, won 7, lost 2, drew 1.

Goals for 40, against 5.

BOYS' 2nd XI

Although the season was one of the wettest yet and as a result only two-thirds of the games were played, the team showed a fair measure of success in the 4B Grade. We would like to give special thanks to our coach, Mr Morton, and to all parents who helped to transport players for Saturday games. The team enjoyed the season and looks forward to next year's hockey.

Results: v. Northcote, won 1-0; v. Mt. Albert, won 4-3; v. A.G.S., lost 1-2; v. Aorere, won by default; v. Pakuranga, lost 0-7; v. St. Kentigern, lost 1-4; v. Selwyn, won 2-0; v. Manurewa, lost 0-8; v. Mt. Albert, won 1-0.

Team: P. Adams (Captain), J. Davies (Vice-Captain), W. Addis, O. Eyre, R. Findlay, B. Kerr, A. Moody, D. Reeves, L. Verner, A. Webster, P. White.

Front Row: C. Parr, P. Mossong, P. Shepherd, S. Milne (Captain), D. Affleck, R. White, K. Charlton.

GIRLS' HOCKEY, 1966

The Girls' Hockey teams have had their most successful year since the foundation of the school, the First XI winning all but one of its competition games.

There was considerably more interest in girls' hockey this year, especially by the lower forms, from which a Beginners' Grade team was drawn. This team, which had an enjoyable, though less successful, season than the First XI, won one of its eight games, drew three and lost four.

The First XI was not so fortunate in the non-competition games, losing to Kaipara College by six goals to nil, and to Dargaville High School by two goals to one. The Beginners' Team won its game against Kaipara by four goals to one.

The teams are indebted to their coach, Miss J. Strother, who in addition to giving much valuable advice and encouragement, refereed most of the Saturday matches, and also to the small group of parents who regularly attended the matches, offering support and transport.

Teams—First XI (Open C Grade): Elizabeth Hillman (Captain), Janice Brailey (Vice-Captain), Jessie Duthie, Andrea Finlay, Elizabeth Kennedy, Lynette McCurdy, Leigh Muller, Lorraine Rehm, Sandra Rice, Faye Rose, Nola Wilkinson.

Beginners' Grade: Janet Russell (Captain), Annette Chetwynd (Vice-Captain), Anne Barrie, Cherrie Blaikie, Jennifer Buchanan, Karen Daniel, Geraldine Harvey, Jennifer Hutton, Robin Kerr, Wendy Martick, Karen Maulder, Gail Oliver, Vivienne Restall, Yvonne Restall, Sheryl Spurdle, Lynda Straker.

Open "C": Games played 9, won 7, lost 1, drew 1. Points for 39, against 19.

Beginners: Games played 10, won 2, lost 4, drew 4. Goals for 21, against 25.

CRICKET

1st XI CRICKET

2A Competition, 1965 (second part of season):

The deciding match to determine the winners of the 2A Section was against Auckland Grammar School. This was an extremely exciting match with R.H.S. emerging the winners by 16 runs. In this match Grant Stainton gave his best performance of the season, scoring 97 runs. Unfortunately the century just eluded him. T. Moorhead contributed a useful knock of 54 runs.

Two centuries were recorded during the season, B. Morris 100 not out, and T. Moorhead 110.

With an undefeated record, the 1st XI was promoted to the Senior C Division for 1966.

Top scorers for the 1965 season were: T. Moorhead, 322 runs at 53.7 average; B. Morris, 1964 runs at 48.5 average; Grant Stainton, 167 runs at 27.8 average.

Main wicket takers were T. Moorhead (26 wickets at 10.7 av.), and Grant Stainton (9 wickets at 21.7 av.).

IC Competition, 1966:

G. Murdoch and W. Jones, two of the team members for 1965, left and were replaced by K. Richardson and T. Noakes. In winning outright the first three games of the season, the 1st XI has established a commanding position in the Senior C competition.

A point of interest in the Seddon Memorial Technical College game was the batting performance of the team. R.H.S. scored 276 for 3 declared, of which T. Moorhead contributed 169 not out, thus passing the 1,000 run mark for school cricket, while L. Barr hit a useful 46 runs. S.M.T.C. were dismissed for 65 and 68.

Top scorers for the season so far:

T. Moorhead, 264 runs at 132.0 av.; G. Tay-

2nd XI CRICKET, 1965-1966

The team, at the latter stages of 1965, lost only one game and won the other three either outright or on the 1st innings.

So far, in the first half of this year, the team, ably led by R. Hendry, has performed well, with one outright win against St. Peter's College, a 1st innings win against Mt. Albert Grammar 'B' team, a 1st innings loss against King's College, and a most exciting loss after a 1st innings lead against Auckland Grammar School A team.

The team's thanks go to Mr Berridge, the coach, and those supporters who helped once again with transport.

Team members: R. Hendry (Captain), K. Phyn (Vice-Captain), T. Barrie, P. Addis, M. Earl, A. Ball, R. Iotua, A. Strid, G. Hahn, D. Langston, R. Jones, M. Curren and R. Jessop, the last two being newcomers to the team.

3rd XI CRICKET

Despite the losses the 3rd XI has enjoyed its games and is playing cricket that is spirited if not expert. The large turnover in team members has made it difficult for the team to develop as a unit, but the members have never stopped trying.

The team would like to thank its coach, Mr

5th XI CRICKET

This team produced enjoyable, entertaining and occasionally spectacular cricket. The team, by consistent effort, managed to achieve third place in the Sixth Grade competition, but proved above all that it is the enjoying of the game and not the winning that is most important. We would like to thank our coach, Mr Winter, and all parents who so willingly provided transport.

Results:

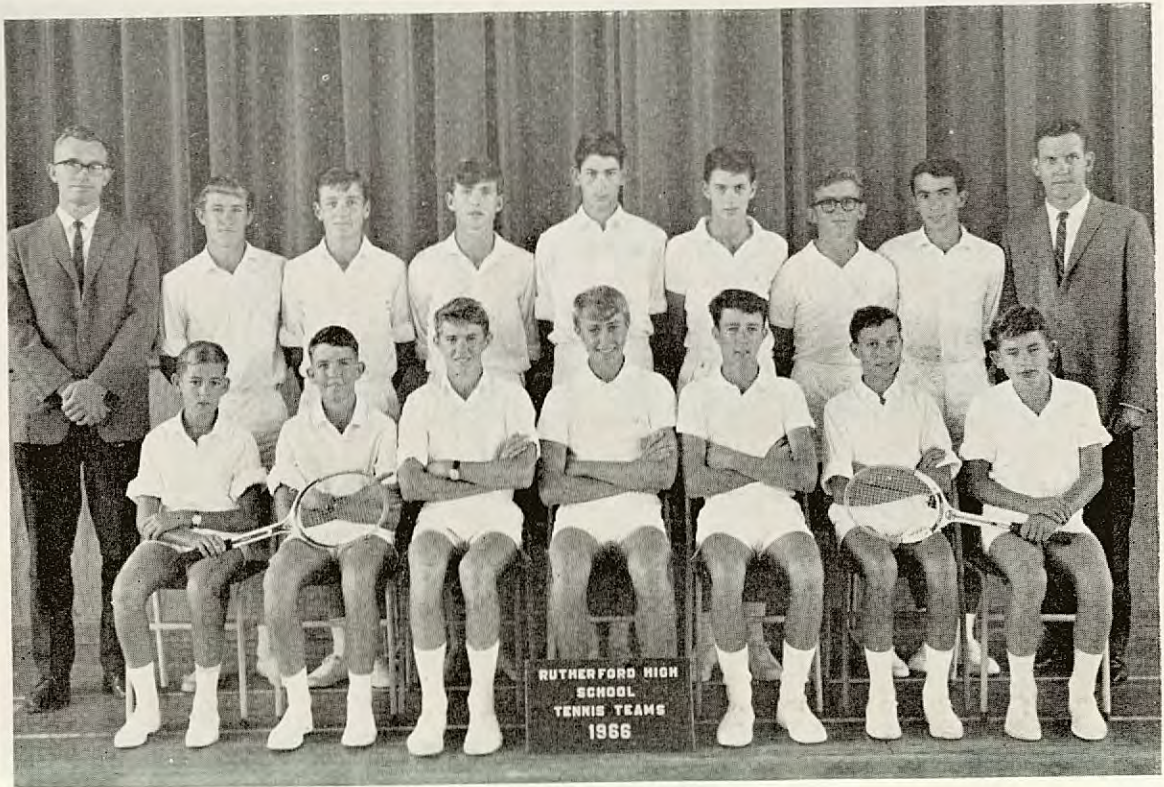

v. Kelson High School (A), won outright.

v. Kelston High School (B) lost outright.

v. Mt. Albert Grammar School, won outright.

v. Lynfield College, lost outright.

TENNIS

BOYS' TEAMS

Again this year Rutherford had a Senior and an Intermediate team in the Inter-secondary Schools' competition. The Senior team played in the "B" section and suffered only one loss. They even had two wins one Saturday morning when two different schools arrived as opponents and Rutherford played them both. The Intermediate team found the competition very strong in the "A" section of the competition.

Intermediate Team: Games played 6, won 3, lost 3, lost 2 by default.

Senior: Team: Games played 9, won 8, lost 1.

GIRLS' TENNIS TEAM

Middle Row: Mrs Baker, Merrill Davis, Marina Comben, Beverley Lindegreen, Jennifer Dorsett, Tina Patrick, Miss Renwick.

GIRLS' TENNIS

The Girls' Tennis team had a more than usually successful season this year. Both teams were promoted to higher grades where they continued to do well. Of the nine games each team played Seniors won seven and the Intermediate won six.

The team would like to thank the coaches, Miss Renwick and Mrs Baker, for their encouragement, and the parents for their help with transport.

YACHTING

In March of this year the Auckland Secondary Schools' Frostbite Championships were held off Narrow Neck. The day was fine with a light breeze. Although Rutherford did not go into the finals our crew put up a very creditable performance.

Our thanks are due to Mr Manifold, Commodore of the Taikata Sailing Club, for making boats belonging to members of the club available to us for practice.

Crew: Elizabeth Hillman (Skipper), Sel Neil (For'd Hand), Mark Raines (Reserve).

ROWING SQUAD, 1966

Mr Reid, B. Strid, T. Swallow, A. Donaldson, C. Homer, R. Jessop, G. Wood, M. Shepherd, B. Anderson, K. Charlton.

In Front: M. Sinton.

ROWING

Although there has not been much active rowing so far this year, indications are that in the not too distant future regular training on the river will be in full swing.

Through the generosity of Mr Manifold we were able to purchase a second-hand set of oars which have now been restored and have proved to be most satisfactory.

Access to the water is still extremely difficult. Over the last fifty yards across the mud the boys have sometimes been waist-deep but these conditions should improve from now on as the causeway is extended.

Our thanks are due to Mr Don Croot, of the West End Rowing Club, who has been a great help to us in so many ways.

TUG-OF-WAR

July 7th was the day of the first inter-house Tug-of-War competition to be held at the school. Each house was required to put forward a team of 20 boys.

Results: 1st, Batten with 14 points; 2nd, Lovelock with 10 points; 3rd, Williams with 6 points; 4th, Wilding with 2 points.

A team of 15 staff members competed against teams from 6A, and the First Rugby XV. These competitions, both of which the staff won convincingly, proved to be the highlight of the competitions.

In spite of the lack of participants in some quarters the event was a success, and will be continued in following years. Thanks are due to Mr Allan for the preparation and organisation involved.
